United States Rejects Demand of Mussolini That Proposed Commercial Agreement Be Made in Name of Emperor of Ethiopia—Understanding Almost Reached Ere Snag Appeared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP).—The United States' refusal to recognize King Victor Emmanuel of Italy as Emperor of Ethiopia has resulted in suspension of the Italo-American negotiations for a commercial treaty. Informed sources said Mussolini required the new treaty to be made in the name of Victor Emmanuel as King of Italy and Emperor of Ethiopia and that State Secretary Hull refused.

Negotiations, they said, would now lapse for some months, during which the situation may be clarified.

The stalemate occurred suddenly when negotiations were proceeding excellently. Practically all obstacles had been removed and the two countries had already agreed to an ad interim understanding, announced last month, whereby Italy retreated from her closed economy position to the traditional most-favored-nation treatment.

Officials here are at a loss to understand Mussolini's insistence, since commercial treaties were made by Italy with other countries in 1936 and 1937 without bringing in

RETARDED BY GOVERNMENT

Planning in Economic Sphere Hinders Intelligent Handling of Problems

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP).—Government "planning" in the economic sphere has retarded "intelligent planning" by United States industry itself, Wilson Compton, spokesman for the vast lumber industry, declared today.

"We have frankly more faith in our planning for our own industry than in the Government undertaking to do it for us," he told the Senate committee investigating unemployment.

Compton, who is secretary-manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said what he would like to see was the compilation by the Government of "more complete information on the condition of inventories and on present and prospective consumption," such information to be made quickly available to industrial management.

DISTRESS GROWING

Earlier Secretary of Agriculture Wallace reported "distress is widespread throughout the broad sectors of American agriculture—it is growing rapidly—and neither the local nor Federal agencies have the means to cope with it."

ARE ADDING TO APPOINTMENTS

British Secretary for War Continues Bringing Youth To the Fore

LONDON, Jan. 11 (C.)—Further high army appointments were announced tonight as additional proof the policy initiated by Leslie Hore-Belisha, Secretary for War, of bringing youth and ability to the fore, is being pursued aggressively.

The new appointments are a direct consequence of the sweeping shakeup of the Army Council December 2, when the minister passed over fifty senior generals to make Major-General Viscount Gort chief of the Imperial General Staff and, by wholesale retirements, reduced the average age of the council from sixty-three to fifty-two.

The ages of the officers promoted today range from forty-six to fifty-three. Two of them hold the Victoria Cross.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

Major-General H. R. L. G. Alexander to command the First Division, effective February 18, in succession to Lieut.-General C. C. Armitage, who has been appointed Master-General of Ordnance in India.

Colonel D. G. Johnson, V.C., to command the Fourth Division, effective January 7, with the temporary rank of major-general, in succession to Major-General Clive Liddell, appointed adjutant-general in the December reorganization.

Brigadier B. C. T. Paget as commandant of the Staff College at Camberley with the temporary rank of major-general, succeeding Colonel Sir Ronald Adam, who became Deputy Chief of the Imperial Staff in December.

Brigadier H. R. Pownall as Director of Military Operations and Intelligence at the War Office with the temporary rank of major-general, effective in March, succeeding Major-General R. H. Haining, appointed General Officer Commanding the British force in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

Hawaii-New Zealand Plane Forced Down

Forced down at sea somewhere between Pago Pago and New Zealand, the Pan-American Airways Samoan Clipper was missing last night. One unconfirmed report said the plane was sighted afloat, and another that search in the vicinity of British Samoa had been unsuccessful. The big plane was on her second trip on the recently inaugurated mail and express service between Hawaii and Auckland.

Hold Their Own In Teruel Battle

ZARAGOZA, Spain, Jan. 11 (CP-Havas).—General Franco's command claimed tonight insurgents held their own in the continuing wholesale fighting around Teruel, key city of the Aragon front in Eastern Spain.

While declaring their troops turned back each Government thrust, the insurgents reported no offensive action of their own.

EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN SEVERE

Thousands Terrified by Sharp Shocks Over Large Section of Country

TOKIO, Jan. 12 (AP).—A severe earthquake shook an usually wide area of Japan today, sending thousands of frightened Japanese rushing from their homes. Considerable damage was believed to have been done.

The earthquake, which lasted twenty minutes, extended over the large islands of Kyushu and Shikoku as well as most of the southern part of the principal Japanese island, Honshu.

A forest fire was started in Wakayama Prefecture when a charcoal burner's hut collapsed.

Clocks stopped in Tokio and household articles tumbled to the floor.

SCORE KILLED IN BARCELONA RAID

Dutch Freighter Reported Torpedoed by Unidentified Submarine Off Spanish Coast

BARCELONA, Jan. 11 (AP).—Twenty persons were believed to have been killed tonight and forty-five injured by an insurgent aerial attack on Barcelona.

Alicante dispatches at the same time reported the Dutch freighter Hannah was torpedoed and sunk by an unidentified submarine seven miles off Cape Antonio.

The Spanish Government press agency declared, however, that the Dutch vessel was torpedoed but not sunk.

Insurgent air raiders bombed several outlying districts of Barcelona, the capital of Government-held Spain. The planes crossed and recrossed the city, dumping bombs on widely-scattered points.

Most of the crowded houses struck were completely destroyed.

Serious Rift Is Reported In Portugal

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 11 (AP).—Uncensored reports reaching Gibraltar from Lisbon today disclosed existence of a serious rift between Portugal's strongman premier, Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, and officers of the regular army.

These dispatches said the difficulty resulted from the Premier's decrees ordering drastic reorganization of the army.

While troops waited in their barracks last Friday, "ready to act if necessary," army leaders were said to have dispatched an ultimatum to Salazar demanding cancelation of the decrees.

Chinese Declare Japanese Drive Is Turned Back

Claim Threat to Suchow Relieved—Heavy Movement of Reinforcements Started From Interior—Report Mission Bombed by Japanese War Planes—Air Raids Over Wide Area

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12 (AP).—Chinese said today they had turned back a Japanese drive south of Hangchow, capital of Chekiang Province, and had relieved the Japanese threat to Suchow, strategic rail junction north of Nanking.

They said the Japanese in the Hangchow area sought to cross the Chientang River by steam launches for an advance toward Ningpo, but were forced to withdraw before Chinese artillery fire, losing one troop-laden launch.

REINFORCEMENTS MOVING

A heavy movement of Japanese troops and big guns from the interior was reported. Shanghai observers believed they were reinforcements for the Hangchow area, where Chinese reports have indicated Japanese efforts to push inland were being held up.

In Southern Shantung Province, Chinese said Japanese forces had failed in an effort to take Tsining.

MODERNIZING HER DEFENCES

Not Building War Machine In Canada Minister of Works Tells Rally

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (C.)—The armament programme launched by the Liberal Government means Canada is modernizing her defences, not building a war machine, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Public Works, told a party rally tonight in Montreal St. Henri division. The Dominion Cabinet Minister fired the Government's first gun in the by-election battle to retain the seat left vacant upon appointment of Paul Mercier to the circuit court bench. Voting takes place January 17.

VERY MODEST SYSTEM

Canada has had a militia and a small array of war equipment since confederation, Mr. Cardin recalled. "We are just renovating our very modest system of defence," he said, referring to the $35,000,000 defence appropriation passed at the last session of Parliament.

"Our outlay for armaments is only 7 per cent of our national budget, a modest expenditure. Some of our canon are very venerable; much of our artillery is still drawn by horses. We must modernize, and that is just what we are doing.

"I defy anyone to say that Canada should have no defences at all. The Government has no warlike intentions toward any nation, but we must be ready to make some defence of our territory if the need should arise. The Canadian who would not fight to defend his country is not worthy of living in this Dominion."

ABANDONS PLAN FOR MOONLIGHT FLIGHTS

BARROW, Alaska, Jan. 11 (AP).—Sir Hubert Wilkins today abandoned his plans for moonlight flights over the Arctic wastes from Point Barrow in search of Sigismund Levanevsky and his five Russian comrades who disappeared August 13 on a trans-polar flight. Wilkins shifted his base to Aklavik this morning

Says Social Credit In Province Would Be Unconstitutional

Dominion Counsel Tells Supreme Court Any Banking Scheme Would Be Outside Legal Jurisdiction of Provincial Legislature

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 (C.)—Social Credit as planned in Alberta is a banking scheme outside legal jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislature, the Supreme Court was told today by Aime Geoffrion.

The Dominion counsel in the reference to determine constitutionality of three Alberta bills to which Lieutenant-Governor John Bowen reserved assent in September, said the essence of Social Credit was to create a banking system or to appropriate one.

BREACH OF CONSTITUTION

The British North America Act, Mr. Geoffrion argued, gave to the Dominion Parliament exclusive and full control of banking and any attempt to establish a financial system within Alberta would be a breach of the constitution.

The reference to test constitutionality of the Alberta bills opened this morning with most of the day taken by Mr. Geoffrion explaining the bills and examining Social Credit theories of Major C. H. Douglas.

The Dominion counsel contended that it was impossible to understand the terms of the bills without a study of the broad principles and theories of Social Credit. He instanced "monetization of credit" and

CO-OPERATE TO END RECESSION

Five Business Leaders Confer With Roosevelt—Reach Better Understanding

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP).—Five captains of United States big business talked their problems over with President Roosevelt today and reported a "better understanding" which would lead to "closer co-operation in meeting the difficulties of the moment."

The chief executive's conferees were Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors Corporation; Ernest T. Weir, chairman of National Steel; Lewis Brown, president of Johns-Manville; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Colby Chester, chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers and president of General Foods.

GENERAL DISCUSSION

For an hour and a half, they engaged in what they called later a "general discussion" of the problems of the business recession. Then, leaving the President's office, Sloan, on behalf of the group, dictated this statement to reporters:

"We have had an interesting and constructive talk with the President. All of us agree we have a better understanding of each other's problems, out of which, I am sure, will come closer co-operation in meeting the difficulties of the moment."

Beyond this, and individual statements that the meeting had been "useful" and "helpful," they would not comment. But it was obvious that they left the White House in a more cheerful frame of mind.

SEEKS TO EVICT SHACK DWELLERS

Vancouver Health Officer Would Remove 500 Persons From False Creek Waterfront

VANCOUVER, Jan. 11 (C.)—Dr. J. W. McIntosh, Vancouver medical health officer, tonight prepared to confer with provincial and Federal authorities regarding eviction of 500 persons occupying shacks and houseboats on False Creek, where typhoid fever bacilli have been found.

The action followed his statement today he believed the 500 adults and children should be evicted from the area as a measure to safeguard local waters from contamination by typhoid germs from sewage.

Last week provincial laboratory tests revealed water from this area contained bacilli of the disease. They were made in the effort to determine the source of a recent outbreak of the malady here, which has claimed five lives and left fourteen others in hospital for treatment.

FATE OF CREW IN DOUBT AFTER CLIPPER FORCED DOWN AT SEA

Pan-American Airways Believes Report Big Plane On Water in British Samoa Authentic—United States Navy Machine Spends Five Hours on Fruitless Search Out of Tutuila

Was Returning to Pago Pago Because of Engine Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11 (AP).—The twenty-one-ton Samoan Clipper was forced down at sea today on a South Pacific flight, leaving the fate of her seven crew members in doubt. One unconfirmed report said the big flying boat was sighted afloat and another searchers could not find her. A United States Navy airplane, which started out from Tutuila, Samoa, to hunt for the clipper, returned after a five-hour search which was unavailing.

Pan American Airways officials here said they had received a report from Pago Pago, which the clipper left this morning for Auckland, N.Z., that she had been sighted floating in Apia Harbor twenty-eight minutes after she reported she would land because of motor trouble.

REPORTS OIL LEAK

The big, four-motored craft, in command of the veteran trans-Pacific aviator, Captain Edwin C. Musick, left Pago Pago at 5:30 a.m., Samoan time (9:30 a.m., P.S.T.) and reported at 7:50 a.m. (11:50 a.m., P.S.T.) that she was returning because of an oil leak in one engine.

Nazis in Austria Try Violence to Disrupt Meetings

VIENNA, Jan. 11 (AP).—Austrian Nazis today created disturbances at fifty monarchist meetings throughout the country in a vain effort to break them up. # PIONEER OF CITY PASSES

James Maynard Succumbs To Long Illness—Well-Known in Business

Victoria lost one of its outstanding businessmen and pioneers in the person of James Maynard, aged seventy-seven years, of 1222 Pandora Avenue, who passed away yesterday afternoon following a long illness. Some years ago Mr. Maynard suffered from a serious illness which kept him from taking an active part in the business affairs of the city, and his death culminated this long period of ill-health.

Born in Bude, Cornwall, Mr. Maynard came to this city as a young man fifty-four years ago, opened business as a shoemaker and merchant in a building that once occupied the site on which now stands a branch bank adjoining the B.C.E.R. Company building on Douglas Street, opposite the City Hall.

From a small beginning, Mr. Maynard built up his business until he had to take over larger premises on Yates Street, where the present store is located.

OPERATED SEALING BOAT

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP).—The appointment of Count Rene de Saint-Quentin, fifty-four, to be French ambassador to the United States was announced officially today. He is a bachelor.

For more than a year the count has been titular ambassador to Rome, but because of France's refusal to recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia and accredit him to Vittorio Emanuele as "king and emperor" he has been unable to take the post.

At Washington he will succeed Georges Bonnet, who returned in June, 1937, to become Finance Minister.

LOST RUDDER IN ATLANTIC GALE

Newfoundland Steamer Is Towed Into Cardiff After Hazardous Ordeal

CARDIFF, Jan. 11 (C.)—The Newfoundland steamship Blue Peter reached Cardiff today, six days overdue, in tow of a Dutch tug.

The crew brought a tale of ordeal in the Atlantic. The Blue Peter sailed December 23 from St. John's, Newfoundland, and three days later lost her rudder amidst a gale and heavy seas.

She drifted helplesaly for five days before the tug reached her. The crew of Canadians appeared none the worse for their battering.

The craft was en route to Briton Ferry, Glamorganshire, with a cargo of fish and is to be broken up for scrap at that port.

According to Lloyd's Register the Blue Peter is a craft of 4,132 tons, registered out of St. John's.

Formerly called the Highland Laird, she was built in Scotland in 1899 and is owned, according to Lloyd's, by Job Brothers & Company, Limited, St. John's.

DECISIONS ARE NOT DIVULGED

Japan's Policy and Relations Discussed at Conference Before Throne

TOKIO, Jan. 11 (AP).—The first conference before the throne since 1914 today established Japan's policy toward China and discussed her relations with other world powers.

Details of decisions in the meeting, over which Emperor Hirohito presided, were kept secret, but Domei (Japanese News Agency) said a statement would be issued in two or three days.

The conference, attended by the highest Government and military officials, was preceded by speculation it would consider a formal declaration of war against China.

Admiral Nobumasa Suyetsugu, Home Minister and retired commander of the combined fleets, was known to favor a war declaration to facilitate effective blockade of China.

(The Havas News Agency said reports were current the Government still hoped Chiang Kai-Shek would accept mediation proposals of the German Ambassador at Hankow, which have Japanese approval.)

At the conclusion of the meeting it was stated semi-officially "the Empire's unshakeable policy toward China was established."

Finance Minister Okumobu Kaya told the Cabinet Japan would have no difficulty financing lengthy hostilities.

Antique Silver of Scotland Described To Burns Club Here

Alec McCloy, Government Appraiser, Tells Scots Folk How to Distinguish Genuine Old Plate —Annual Dinner Set for January 25

IN a most erudite talk on "Old Scottish Silver" given at the meeting of the Burns Club in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last evening, Alec McCloy, Provincial Government appraiser and a well-known authority on the subject, brought a fund of information not only concerning the appearance of ancient plate but also concerning the marks by which collectors could distinguish the genuine from the spurious.

A melancholy part of the story, which covered practically the whole history of silverplate in Scotland from earliest times, was its revelation of the devastating effect of the scarcity of bullion in Great Britain in the seventeenth century, this resulting in tempting offers being made for hall-marked silver for minting purposes and the consequent melting down of a vast quantity of priceless plate.

By means of charcoal sketches, Mr. McCloy illustrated many of the marks. As a chief means of dating really old Scottish silver depended on these marks (known as "Deacon's marks"). It was fortunate for the history of old plate that a record of these had been compiled by the late James H. Sanderson, and, after his time added to by Rev. Thomas Burns, Edinburgh.

AN ANCIENT PIECE

One of the oldest pieces of Scottish silver was known as "The Lanark Racing Bell," a drawing of which shown. This particular bell was said to have been presented to the Burgh of Lanark in 1160 by William the Lion. It had a closed mouth, and a number of small shields depended from it, on one of which the date 1628 appeared. According to the Goldsmiths' Union Records the initials "R.D." appearing on the bell ndicated that Robert Dennistoun was the "deacon," and other initials, "H.L." that a Hugh Lindsay was the maker.

The Edinburgh and Glasgow town marks were of special interest. The latter, a tree, bird, bell and fish, was responsible for an old jingle: "This is the tree that never grew; this is the bird that never flew; this is the bell that never rang; this is the fish that never swam."

OLD TOWN MARKS

There were also shown the town marks of Dumbarton, Renfrew, Greenock, Kilmarnock, Inverary, Dundee, Aberdeen, Montrose, Perth, St. Andrew's, Banff, Elgin and Inverness. In connection with Inverness, Mr. McCloy noted that at a certain period a curious small animal resembling a dromedary had appeared as a mark on Inverness silver. This mark was on a soup ladle owned by a Dr. Diamond, and was considered by him to be quite unique, but Mr. McCloy had found on Vancouver Island the only other piece known to be marked with this dromedary. This was in the possession of the descendants of an old Glasgow family who were totally unaware of its value. This piece and a few other bits of old silver had realized over a thousand dollars for the family. The third curious Inverness-marked pieces were in the possession of the Marquis of Breadalbane, who had done a great deal in collecting and preserving old Scottish silver.

About the only piece of silver connected with Robert Burns was in the Glencairn silver snuff box bought by Lord Dewar, this being one of the romances of the auction ring.

MUSICAL ITEMS

There was an enjoyable programme also last evening, H. L. Harmsworth singing "Angus Macdonald" and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride"; J. J. Matheson singing "The Lute Player" (Allitsen); and four girls, Gwen Dewar, Jessie Pollock, Evelyn Watson and Helen Finlayson, dancing several Highland dances. Miss Jessie Smith, A.T.C.M., accompanied the singers, and Piper Donald Cameron supplied the music for the dancers.

W. B. Grant, the president, was in the chair and announced that the annual Burns dinner would take place on Tuesday, January 25, at the Empress Hotel. Capt. R. W. McMurray expressed the thanks of the members to the speaker and artists.

SENTENCED TO IMPRISONMENT

Jack Young to Serve Six Months for Theft of Watch From Chinese

Denying the theft of a watch belonging to Hon Louie, Chinese house boy at "Cherrybank," Blanshard Street, Jack Young, alias Theodore Carveth, aged twenty-nine years, was found guilty by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in the Oak Bay police court yesterday, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

The accused elected to be tried by a higher court on a second charge of attempting to break and enter the home of R. W. Gibson, 1590 York Place, and was committed accordingly.

Concerning the charge of theft, Chief John Syme testified that the accused was wearing the watch when he was arrested on Monday evening. Witness found him hiding under a recessed portion of the Gibson home.

Chief Syme produced in court a pair of gloves covered with white paint which he stated the accused was wearing at the time of arrest, and also a wood chisel with traces of white paint on it, found near the place where Young was arrested.

A long list of previous convictions, dating back to 1925, was read after a conviction had been entered on the charge of theft.

C. L. Harrison prosecuted. The accused was not represented by counsel.

ARE ADDING TO APPOINTMENTS

AT SANDHURST

Colonel T. R. Estwood as commandant of the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, effective January 12, succeeding Major-General W. D. S. Brownrigg, appointed military secretary to the War Office in succession to Lord Gort.

Brigadier P. Neame, V.C., as commandant of the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich with the temporary rank of major-general, effective February 28, succeeding Major-General A. A. Goshen.

The local rank of lieutenant-general has been conferred on Generals Brownrigg, Adam and Haining.

The appointments are considered in line with Mr. Hore-Belisha's expressed determination to find "the right man" for every job, irrespective of seniority and length of service. It is explained that fitness for a particular post was the sole basis of selection, instead of the individual's position in the Army List.

FLYING TO IRELAND

The energetic War Secretary flies to Northern Ireland on Wednesday for a tour of inspection of the military district.

General Alexander now commands the Nowshera Brigade of the Indian Northern Command and was in action in the Mohmand operations of 1935. He had a brilliant Great War record.

Colonel Johnson at present is in command of the Small Arms School at Netheravon as a temporary brigadier. He is fifty-three. During the war he served at Tsingtau, at Gallipoli and in France, where he won the Victoria Cross. He is an expert on small arms and machine gunnery.

SERVED THROUGH WAR

Brigadier Paget, who is forty-nine, now commands the Fourth (Quetta) Infantry Brigade in India. He finished the Great War a brevet major after serving throughout and winning many decorations. Brigadier Pownall is commandant of the School of Artillery at Larkhill. The fifty-one-year-old artillery expert served throughout the Great War, and in the 1930-31 operations on the Indian Northwest frontier. Last year he served as deputy secretary to the Committee of Imperial Defence.

Colonel Eastwood, now on the staff of the Second Division, served in Samoa, Egypt, Gallipoli and France in the war, and was on Lord Rawlinson's staff in the North Russian operations of 1919. He is forty-eight.

"creation of credit by bookkeeping entries."

JUDGES CONFER

Toward the close of the hearing, Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, after conferring with his fellow-judges, gave permission to the Dominion counsel to continue his resume and explanation of Social Credit, but added the court would decide what consideration should be given to the representations.

Later the chief justice said his present opinion was the court must stay close to the wording of the three bills and not give too much consideration to extraneous matters.

The Dominion counsel argued the whole record of the Alberta Government must be considered as an attempt to introduce a new economic system which he considered beyond its legislative powers.

It was not a matter of considering constitutionality of the three bills, but of fitting them into a legislative pattern designed to establish a Social Credit financial system.

ON LEGAL GROUNDS ONLY

Early in the day O. I. Biggar, counsel for Alberta, proposed to strike from the Dominion factum all references to Social Credit. He argued it was the duty of the court to consider the bills on their legal feet and not to take in extraneous considerations such as the long-range policy of the Alberta Government.

After a consultation, the chief justice ruled the Dominion could proceed with its case, but Alberta would be given every opportunity later to refute the arguments. Meanwhile, the court was not bound to accept the contentions of the Dominion, nothing being decided in principle.

The three bills under review concern control of credit institutions, taxation of banks and newspaper regulations. The whole day was spent on the credit bill which Mr. Geoffrion submitted was a clear attempt by Alberta to usurp control of banks.

It was argued by the Dominion the bill could refer only to banks because only banks performed the functions named in the bill. For that reason it was unconstitutional.

Mussolini now demands the preamble to the treaty specifically state Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano is making it in the name of His Imperial Majesty Victor Emmanuel, King of Italy and Emperor of Ethiopia. It would also be signed by Ciano as representative of the King and Emperor.

The United States, it is learned, tried through Ambassador Phillips in Rome to insert in the treaty a paragraph to the effect that the United States signature of the pact was not to be construed as a recognition, de facto or de jure, of the Italian Ethiopia empire. Mussolini refused

SEEKS CLUE TO CAUSE OF CRASH

Bodies of Ten Victims Removed From Wreckage of Plane in Montana

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 11 (AP).—Bodies of ten persons killed in the crash of a Northwest airliner in the Bridger Mountains were recovered late today as investigators searched the strewn wreckage for a clue to the cause of the tragedy. Among those killed was Douglas MacKay, Winnipeg, publicity director and clerk of the Canadian committee of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Sheriff Lovitt I. Westlake, who returned to the plane after being driven away by a storm last night, said seven of the bodies were jammed together in the nose of the ship, apparently thrown there by the impact caused when the ship spun, nose down, onto the mountain and burst into flames. Three bodies had been thrown clear of the wreckage. Wings of the plane were sheared off.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

The plane, a new fourteen-passenger Lockheed Zephyr, recently put into service, was behind schedule on its Seattle-Chicago run when it took off from Butte, Mont., yesterday afternoon. The last word came from it at 5:05 p.m., E.S.T.

Weather reports showed that the sky over Gallatin County was fair at the time of the crash. Air officials said the pilot was north of his course, but probably had flown off the radio beam to avoid tricky air currents prevalent over the canyons of the Bridger Mountains.

CLAIMS CONFIRMED

(Japanese dispatches have reported Japanese advances beyond Tsining toward Kwiteh, on the important Lunghai Railway, but a report from the Southern Baptist Mission at Tsining appeared to confirm Chinese claims that the city had not been captured. A report said the mission was bombed Monday by Japanese war planes and a Chinese watchman was the sole casualty.

The Japanese continued bombing raids on widely-separated cities and took steps to consolidate their gains in conquered areas.

The air raids, none causing serious damage, was principally in Fukien, Chekiang, Kwangsi, Kwangtung and Hopeh Provinces and were directed at airdromes or railways.

WARCRAFT UP RIVER

Japanese warcraft in the Yangtze River penetrated above Wuhu for the first time in the war, according to Chinese, and shelled towns fifty miles up river.

Dispatches from Hongkong said four British river steamships were caught between the fire of a Japanese destroyer and guns of China's Boca Tigris forts, which guard the approach to Canton, but escaped without damage.

(In Paris, the French Government instructed its ambassador at Tokio to deliver an "energetic protest" against the bombing of a French Catholic mission at Nanning, South China, January 9, when a French monk was killed and another wounded.)

QUEBEC POLICE WILL LEARN POLITENESS

QUEBEC, Jan. 11 (CP).—Don't expect any lecture from police constables should you be guilty of traffic infractions in Quebec Province. Major Charles Girouard, director of the Provincial Traffic Bureau, said today the officers would be given lessons in courtesy and, most of all, they will be trained to make "yes" and "no" answer as many questions as possible, give simple directions and "set a new standard for politeness."

BURNS SUPPER

An excellent programme has been arranged and the following artists have kindly contributed their services: Mrs. Marjorie Watson Goodwin, Miss Mae Muir, Mr. J. J. Matheson, Mr. George Guy and others. Rev. T. H. McAllister will give the address to the "haggis" and Mr. D. Bainave the address to the "immortal bard." There will be recitations by Mr. James Walker, community singing and Highland dancing, and other attractive numbers. Haggis supper will be served by the Dames, and a dance will follow.

TELLS STORIES OF EARLY DAYS

W. M. Halliday Narrates Anecdotes to Kiwanis Clubmen

Interesting anecdotes, observations and recollections of the pioneer days on Vancouver Island were given to members of the Kiwanis Club by W. M. Halliday, former magistrate and Indian agent at Alert Bay, at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Never a city dweller, Mr. Halliday said he saw more of life and learned more about the world during his long stay in remote sections of the Island. It built up a spirit of hardihood and independence of character that could not be found any place else, he remarked.

He described general living conditions in the early days as compared with today. Foodstuffs on the average cost the same, although liquor was considerably cheaper then, he added.

Although he spoke largely of the benefits of outdoor life, Mr. Halliday stated, nevertheless it sometimes had bad effects on people. Lack of medical attention was another drawback of the primitive life, but when doctors did enter the country, the people's independence kept them more or less aloof from seeking medical advice, he declared.

The speaker related several stories exemplifying the hardihood and self-reliance of the early pioneers, as well as humorous stories of their life.

Mr. Halliday was introduced by Walter M. Walker and thanked by J. G. MacFarlane, president.

said, it may become necessary to ask for additional rural relief appropriations during the current fiscal year.

The day's third witness was Leonard P. Ayres, noted Cleveland economist, who urged outright repeal, "not modification," of the tax on undistributed corporation profits as the "most important" thing that could be done to increase business confidence.

He said a lag in construction work by the public utilities was "the key log in this economic jam."

INDIANA—"INDIAN LAND"

"Blest Indiana! In whose soil
Men seek the sure rewards of toil.
And honest poverty and worth
Find here the best retreat on earth."

* * *

Less than two and a half centuries ago, French pioneers, settling down at Vicennes, formed a community that was to become known throughout a continent as Hoosierdom—and laid the foundations for Indiana—a state whose name is rooted in that ancient womb of modern languages—Sanskrit!

It all came about because the reason motivating our continent's early voyagers and explorers was the discovery of a new route to the Orient.

When these intrepid adventurers came upon America, they regarded it as Journey's End; believing they had struck India; they christened our indigenous redmen Indian.

Now, the word "Indian" flows from the Sanskrit Sindhu, waterway, modified by transition from language to language, but easily traced forward from its source through the Persian and Greek to the Latin Indus, as the name of, first a river, and then of its bordering territory, in Asia. Add to "Indian" the Latin place-suffix a, signifying "land," and we have the euphonius composite Indiana, meaning "Indian Land."

So happened one of the strangest phenomena of all languages, an American state designation which commemorates North American aborigines, whose native tongues knew not the name which they were mistakenly called by strangers, for inhabitants of a country separated from them by thousands of miles in distance and many thousands of years more of civilization.

PLAN TO HELP SAANICH WARDS

Conservative Association Organizes to Place Groups On Active Basis

Plans for reorganization of ward associations on an active and aggressive basis were discussed at a meeting of Saanich Conservative Association on the top floor of the Campbell Building last evening. Percy Mickleburgh presided.

It was pointed out by the chairman that lack of funds held back work of the association in regard to assisting ward reorganization. He stated Ward One had held no meetings for some time, and others showed signs of inactivity.

It was suggested that Conservative members of the Provincial Legislature be asked to address Saanich ward meetings. A committee will be named by Mr. Mickleburgh to deal with the matter.

ORGANIZER NEEDED

Leslie F. Osborne stated "old dyed-in-the-wool Conservatism" had gone for good. The party needed a national organizer to travel the length and breadth of Canada. A sound and sane policy was needed. There must be co-ordination of thought and endeavor, and the ideal of a fair deal for the nation. It was absolutely necessary that the Conservative party build up a strong organization with a national viewpoint, and with that object in view, members of the party should be familiarized with what was going on in Canada, he declared.

On motion of Mr. Osborne, it was decided to write to national Conservative headquarters to secure full information on party plans and opinions on matters of national import.

PIONEER OF CITY PASSES

Almost from the first year of his residence here, Mr. Maynard was a member of the Metropolitan Methodist Church and later of the same church when it entered church union.

He was a member of the church when the edifice was situated at the corner of Broad Street and Pandora Avenue. He also was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters ever since its inception in this city.

Mr. Maynard was a man of many quiet charities. In the church's campaign for funds for various worthy causes, he was always among those who supported the funds with substantial subscriptions. The Friendly Help Welfare Association depended on him for years to provide shoes at Christmas time for the poor families of the city. These and many other philanthropies Mr. Maynard performed without ostentation.

FOND OF THE OUTDOORS

He was intensely fond of the outdoors. During his latter years, he found considerable enjoyment at his farm at Elk Lake, where his property extended up a hillside which gave a commanding view of the Strait. There, on this farm, his sons and his grandchildren also found the enjoyment of outdoor life.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, E. G. Maynard and William Maynard; one brother, Harry Maynard, residing in Victoria; two brothers in the Old Country; Three sisters in England, and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PLAN TO SINK EXPERIMENTAL BORE FAVORED

Saanich Council Scheme Is Approved at Ward Four Ratepayers' Meeting

COUNCILLOR WARREN EXPLAINS SITUATION

A unanimous resolution approving Saanich Council proceeding with the sinking of a test well to ascertain the quantity and quality of water available, should it be desired to establish an independent water system for the municipality, was passed at a meeting of Ward Four Ratepayers' Association held in the Roy Road Hall last night. F. Young moved the resolution.

Councillor E. C. Warren, chairman of the waterworks committee, deplored the resolution passed at the meeting at Mount Tolmie the previous night, objecting to any proposal to undertake an independent system. He stated that Saanich was now negotiating with the city for a new agreement, and irreparable harm had been done by the resolution.

COST OF WELL SYSTEM

The cost of a deep well supply system would be from $150,000 to $200,000, as compared with an expenditure of between $250,000 and $500,000 for the reservoir that would be required if the council continued to take water from the city, Councillor Warren declared, giving an exhaustive explanation of the water question.

The council was far-sighted enough to see that something would have to be done in the near future, but the people who were writing letters to the papers did not know what they writing about, he said. The ratepayers had been led to believe that the council had signed a contract for the digging of wells. That was absolutely incorrect; there was not even a contract for a test well.

PRESSURE INADEQUATE

Up until a month ago the speaker had believed that the council was unanimous regarding the desirability of drilling a test well, until Councillor A. G. Lambrick threw a bombshell when he declared that the city waterworks authorities had not been approached. Admittedly, the waterworks committee had not met the city officials, but the clerk and engineer had done so, and obtained certain data.

It was not merely a question of price, Councillor Warren continued. In three years the pressure on the twelve-inch main, even in the low areas, had dropped from 135 pounds to eighty pounds, and even after the installation of pumps many of the higher parts of the municipality were unable to get water. The council was forced to look ahead to see what could be done to alleviate the situation.

If Saanich continued under the present system, the city would have to spend a considerable amount of money to supply the municipality. In time sewers would have to be put in, and double the amount of water would then be required. If the pressure had dropped to such an extent in three years, how could the system supply double the demand? he asked.

RESERVOIR NECESSARY

Even if the city made provision for an increased supply, it would be necessary for Saanich to construct a reservoir to supply the high parts, and the engineer estimated the cost of a reservoir at nearly $500,000. Councillor Warren continued, adding that the municipality would be unable to meet the cost of putting in sewerage and providing a reservoir as well.

The speaker went on to state the recommendation of the visiting well drilling expert from the United States that the council should put down a test well, and declared that the only expenditure so far incurred by the council was an amount of $150 for the expenses of the expert's visit and of the visit of the clerk and engineer to Washington to secure data on the waterworks question.

The position now was that a test well would cost approximately $2,000, an expense that would be borne by the waterworks department and not by the general revenue. The matter now lay on the table for consideration by the incoming council.

QUALITY OF WATER

The council would have to be assured of the quality of the water before it would proceed with any scheme, Councillor Warren said. From the geology of the Island, the council had been given to understand that the water would not be hard. The quality of water taken from wells sunk in the United States compared favorably with that of the water the municipality now received from the city.

Councillor Warren stated that the cost of pumping water from wells should not exceed 4 cents per thousand gallons, compared with 9.27 cents which the council was now asked to pay to the city. He concluded with an assurance that any proposal would first be put to the ratepayers.

John Warnock, president of the association, was chairman.

Canada's Export Trade Exceeds $1,000,000,000

President S. H. Logan and General Manager A. E. Arscott Present an Encouraging Report for 1937 to Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce

Presenting an encouraging statement covering operations for 1937, Mr. A. E. Arscott, General Manager of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, addressed the annual meeting of the Bank's shareholders in part as follows:

We have come through an unusual year, marked in its early part by a high rate of economic activity over most of the world, and later by a slowing down in several countries and a sharp reversal of the recovery movement in the United States. For Canada, 1937, like the intervening years from 1933, was mainly one of progressive adjustment. In several branches of our national economy a record level of productivity and employment was attained. Notwithstanding the influence of the sharp recession in the United States upon certain of our industries as well as upon our stock and commodity prices, Canada's business volume as a whole was 10 per cent greater than in 1936.

HEAVY INDUSTRIES ADVANCED

One of the oustanding features of the year was the expansion in the heavy industries which had previously lagged so much in the progress of Canada towards recovery. The increase in this group more than offset the decline in others. While the steel and automobile members are shown officially as having made the greatest rate of progress, certain others whose records are known to the Bank, but who do not publish statements, made quite as good headway. A further feature of the heavy industry situation, and one which deserves wide recognition, is the introduction of new products evolved mainly during the depression period when efforts were being made to counteract the deflationary effects then felt in the standard equipment departments. As a result of this enterprise, these industries have become more diversified and now offer a greater range of products. They have, therefore, achieved more stability in their own operations and imparted to industry in general more steadiness than was possible a few years ago. Unfortunately there were some lines of industry in which the progress of the previous year was not maintained.

MINES PRODUCED $450,000,000

As in former years, mining has been in the vanguard of Canada's economic advance. The powerful influence of the expansion in mining upon Canadian business in general is not fully reflected by the new record in 1937 of $450,000,000 in production value. That figure represents merely the net result. Many branches of industry benefited from mining operations because these operations involved heavy demands for equipment and materials.

In agriculture, the year was one of sharp contrasts. As is well known, drought affected the centre of the Western grain belt so disastrously as to destroy all commercial wheat over about 40 per cent of the planted area and to inflict upon the Province of Saskatchewan the most severe setback ever experienced in the history of Canadian agriculture.

It is not surprising, therefore, to find that as a result of these adverse conditions and of rising agricultural costs, the farm purchasing power of the Dominion in 1937 failed to maintain the increase of the four preceding years, although the year was the most remunerative of the past decade in favored crop areas, comprising a large part of Ontario and sections of Quebec, British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces.

PROMISE FOR 1938

It is highly gratifying that preseason moisture conditions in the Prairie Provinces are the most promising since 1933. In about 70 per cent of the total wheat area the Autumn precipitation was either above average or nearly normal, some of the heaviest rains falling in districts which reaped short crops in recent years. This gives us a much more cheerful outlook for the present year, and affords strong grounds for the hope that at long last a turn in the cycle has come and that the Canadian West will again resume its rightful place as one of the greatest grain-producing areas of the world.

BANKING TRENDS

Conditions affecting Canadian banking have undergone a marked change in recent years. In the early days when great economic activity prevailed through the development of the older Provinces and later when the West was being opened up, the problem of the banks was to gather sufficient deposits to enable them to take care of the ever-increasing demand for loans. The World War added enormously to this demand, which, after a brief post-war interval, continued active during the succeeding decade. Following the crash of 1929, however, a period of sharp contraction occurred, owing to drastic liquidation of commodities and securities, with the result that the banks have found themselves with more funds than they have been able to employ profitably, the precise reverse of former conditions.

LOW INTEREST RATES

The recovery in business, commencing in 1933, gained impetus until the peak was reached about the middle of the past year. During this period industry operated on rising price levels and consequently production and services yielded larger earnings. The banks, however, have been less fortunate and have not benefited to the same extent as trade and industry because their inventories are composed of cash and credit and, as you know, instead of the rise in interest rates which followed previous depressions, these have remained low or fallen further, partly by reason of a broader credit structure, but chiefly as the effect of governmental policy. This policy has been prompted on the one hand by a desire to refund maturing issues and to obtain new money at as low a cost as possible, and, on the other hand, by a wish to encourage business to expand by making it cheaper to borrow. To my mind this policy is sound up to a point, but beyond that fails to achieve its purpose because private capital will not take the natural risk involved in constructive enterprise without a fair rate of interest return. Failing that it will remain on deposit with the banks or seek temporary employment in short-term high-grade securities.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

We have come a long way on the road to recovery since the dark days of the great depression, but we now find ourselves in another period of readjustment. This is not peculiar to Canada, but is being felt even more acutely in other countries, notwithstanding intensive remedial efforts on the part of their governments and the adoption of highly empirical regulations and restrictions designed to safeguard against major fluctuations in business and production. It has transpired, however, that these measures, while they have had a temporary stabilizing effect in some quarters, have retarded healthy progress in others, and it has, in my view, been now clearly demonstrated that the old, well-known fundamental principles still govern the economic life of nations. These, however, are not being allowed to function in their natural way but are continually thwarted in their operation by the artificial, so-called emergency measures I have mentioned. Nevertheless, there is, I believe, a growing realization that these fundamental principles are sound and also that business fluctuations are bound from time to time to occur. In endeavoring to appraise the outlook we are handicapped in our search for helpful precedents because of the many factors which now affect our economic life but did not formerly exist. I need only refer to the restrictions which have been imposed on world trade, the control of foreign exchanges, the vast armament programmes and the ever-present possibility of further international complications. It is my firm belief, however, that Canada, with her vast natural resources, her wide range and variety of products which the world so greatly needs, and the industry, capability and enterprise of her people, is in a more favored position than almost any other country to withstand any temporary recession in general trade and to participate fully in the advance which will inevitably occur when the necessary adjustments have been made and confidence is again restored.

PRESIDENT S. H. LOGAN'S ADDRESS

The year 1937 was one of the most favorable that many Canadians have ever enjoyed.

It is quite apparent that the economic progress in Canada during 1937 was due largely to a series of favorable developments affecting the country's export trade. This trade, though recently on a declining scale from the record volume of the preceding year, had a value above one billion dollars and, like that of 1936, was, on a comparable price basis, actually greater than in 1929.

Canada usually occupies fifth place in world export trade. It is indeed remarkable that this industrially young country, with a population of less than twelve millions, should be able to produce exports about one-third as large as those of the United States, a more highly developed nation, with a population of nearly one hundred and thirty millions and still in possession of vast natural resources.

EXPORTERS' ENTERPRISE

The great extent and variety of Canada's natural wealth partly explain her high standing in international trade. So, also, do the commercial trade treaties effected by our forward-looking governments of the past five years. And, of course, in recent years there has been the stimulus of general economic recovery spreading and accelerating from 1932 until early in 1937, by which time world industrial production had risen to an unprecedented level. To make the most of their opportunities, however, Canadian exporters had to show, and did show, a marked degree of enterprise and of adaptability to materially altered world conditions.

It was in the diversification of exportable products, however, that the variety of our natural resources and the enterprise of our exporters showed to the greatest advantage. Changes in tastes, which alter currents of trade, are of common occurrence, but probably never did international commerce show such divergent trends as in the recent years of intense economic nationalism. In the countries most devoted to this policy of self-sufficiency drastic import restrictions were placed on foreign foodstuffs, with the result that world trade in these has been kept practically at the low depression level of 1932. But by 1937 there were such large gains in other raw materials and manufactures as to raise the volume of world trade as a whole (world exports and imports combined) by about 25 per cent over that of 1932. This expansion may be ascribed to various causes, among them, the world rearmament programme; but, one should be particularly emphasized, namely, the fact that the limited resources of raw materials, notably wood and base metals, in the countries mentioned, have made self-sufficiency more difficult than in the case of foodstuffs. The Old World, including the Orient, has had, therefore, to satisfy its growing demands for these materials by drawing upon the supplies of richly endowed countries such as Canada.

FOREST AND MINE

Now let us consider Canadian export trade in this period of abnormal change in the character of world commerce, taking three classes which make up 90 per cent of our exports. The volume of agricultural exports in 1937 was slightly less than in 1932. But notwithstanding a continued narrow American market for our lumber, exports of all wood materials rose by about 70 per cent over 1932 to account for about one-fifth of all exports. The most striking development was, however, in mineral exports, which gained by 170 per cent and thus were more than one-quarter of our total trade, as compared with 15 per cent six years ago.

CONSTRUCTIVE POLICIES

In outlining the progress of Canadian export trade under exceptional difficulties, I have emphasized the achievements of constructive business enterprise in this naturally favored land. The question might well be asked: Who in Canada are most likely to be effective in creating new wealth, employment and purchasing power for our people—men who have by their enterprise so greatly expanded our trade and industry and opened new markets for Canadian products, or those who seek to assume control of, or even to overthrow, the nation-wide systems of business and finance through whose efficient operation such nationally beneficial results have been achieved?

PRESENT SET-BACK TEMPORARY

In the past few months we have witnessed steep declines in commodity prices, such as usually presage a business recession. A drastic fall in the exchange values of securities is likewise a warning, for stock exchange movements are generally accepted as barometers of the future state of business. Falling commodity prices are signals to the business man to avoid excessive inventories. Falling security prices affect the volume of retail sales, at least in luxury goods. They also cause many to defer purchases which they would otherwise make. Memories of the last depression are fresh in the public mind. Part of the current pessimism is a reflection from 1932 and due also to the troubled state of Europe and the dangerous situation in the Orient. The hope may be ventured, however, that after a period of adjustment and stabilization the upward march of business will be again resumed. It must not be supposed that all speculation in stocks is economically harmful. An outstanding illustration of this statement is the remarkable growth of our mining industry, highly speculative in nature, which now has a production value of over $400,000,000 per annum. While no one can for a moment condone speculative investment to an extent that overstrains individual resources, the public must be willing from time to time to risk money in new enterprises if our natural wealth is to continue to be progressively developed. Canada is a country which, despite its ups and downs, has exceptional recuperative power and unlimited possibilities. It is one of the best in which to live and work.

THE PROBLEM OF PEACE

The greatest problem of the world today, including of course the United States and Canada as vital parts of it, is the settlement of European affairs upon a basis that will remove the constant threat of another world conflagration, and the termination without Western entanglement of the disastrous war now going on between Japan and China. This problem must be left to the skill and wisdom of statesmanship in the various nations concerned. The individual can do but little and prediction as to the course of events is idle and futile. We, in Canada, have faith not only in the might, but also in the good sense, calm judgment and wise forbearance, even in the face of grave and wilful provocation, of the British people and their Government. We have also confidence in the power, influence and right intentions of our great neighbor and kindred democracy to the South. The chief interest of both the British Empire and the United States is world peace. By their joint or co-operative action it is most likely to be achieved and made permanent. To the extent that Canada is able to assist in the realization of this great ideal our Government should be able to depend upon the support and encouragement of the Canadian people.

Exporters' Enterprise largely explains good showing of Export Trade.

MACCHIONE IS GRANTED NEW TRIAL

Death Sentence Halted on Man Twice Convicted Of Murder

SIX JUDGMENTS BY B.C. APPEAL COURT

At the opening of the British Columbia Court of Appeal at the Court House here, yesterday morning, a list of judgments of appeals upon which decision had been reserved was handed as follows:

Rex vs. Macchione; new trial allowed (Macdonald, M.A., dissenting).

Rex vs. Sam Chow; allowed. New trial ordered.

Burns vs. Burns; dismissed.

McDermid vs. Bowen; judgment to be handed down on Friday next.

Canadian Bank of Commerce vs. Yorkshire & Canadian Trust, Ltd.; allowed (Mr. Justice McPhillips dissenting).

Field vs. David Spencer, Ltd.; allowed, and new trial ordered, appellants to pay cost of appeal.

Mann vs. American Automobile Insurance Co.; allowed.

Some of the reserved judgments were delivered as follows:

Rex. vs. Macchione

This was an appeal by the accused Vincent Macchione from his conviction by a judge and jury on a charge of murdering Mike Hudock, near Fernie, on February 9, 1936. The accused, a railway employee, has been twice tried and found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. He was first tried by Mr. Justice Robertson and a jury in May, 1936, but on appeal a new trial was granted. A second trial was held before Mr. Justice Manson. The present appeal was from the second conviction, on the grounds that the learned trial judge had misdirected the jury.

The appeal to the Court of Appeal was allowed. Macdonald, M.A., dissenting.

Rex vs. Sam Chow

The accused in this case was found not guilty by Police Magistrate H. S. Woods, Vancouver, on a charge of selling lottery tickets. The learned magistrate dismissed the charge, finding although the accused might be successfully prosecuted for running a gaming house of some kind, he could not be held guilty of running a lottery as no lottery in fact had been proved. The Court of Appeal held that on the facts proved the Crown had succeeded in bringing the accused within the provisions of Section 236 (B) of the Criminal Code, as it had established three revelant essentials, viz., (a) the sale of the tickets, (b) "for" (i.e., with the intention of) disposing of property, (c) by a mode of chance.

The appeal was allowed, and a new trial ordered.

Burns vs. Burns

This action was brought by the plaintiff (appellant), Michael Burns, to have letters of administration granted by the courts in the Province of Alberta to the defendant (respondent), Mrs. Mabel Burns, and resealed in British Columbia, revoked. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant, widow of James Francis Burns, was not in fact legally married to the deceased and, therefore, not entitled to be appointed administratrix of his estate. The trial judge, Mr. Justice Robertson, found as a fact that the defendant was the widow of the deceased and dismissed the action. The plaintiff appealed and the appeal was dismissed.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce vs. Canadian Trust, Ltd.

This was an appeal by the defendant from a judgment of Mr. Justice Fisher in a special case for the opinion of the court as to whether certain monies owing under an agreement of sale which had been assigned by the vendors to the plaintiff bank were legally payable to the said bank or were payable to the defendant (appellant) as executor of the will of the vendor. The appeal was allowed, Mr. Justice McPhillips dissenting.

Field vs. David Spencer, Ltd.

The plaintiffs, James and Edna Field (husband and wife), appealed from the dismissal of their action following trial before a jury. The jury had awarded Mrs. Field the sum of $500 in an action she brought against the defendant for damages she alleged she had received in a beauty parlor operated in Vancouver by the defendant (respondent) while having her hair permanently waved. The jury, although finding there was no negligence, awarded her the said sum, but on motion made by counsel for the defendant, the action was dismissed.

The appeal by the plaintiffs was allowed and a new trial directed. Costs of the appeal to be paid by the appellant; the costs of the abortive trial to follow the event of a second trial.

Mann et al. (R) vs. American Insurance Co. (A)

The question involved in this appeal was whether certain documents in an automobile accident suit which the defendant (appellant) had refused to produce, were privileged communications. The appellants having refused to produce the documents in question, the respondent, Eileen Mann, applied for an order for their production free from privilege, which offer was made, and it is this order from which the appellant appealed.

The Court of Appeal held that the documents were privileged communications and that the respondent was not entitled to the production thereof. The appeal was dismissed.

Smith vs. B.C. Electric Railway Co.

The plaintiff (respondent), who is executrix of the estate of John Thomas Smith, deceased, brought action against the appellant company for damages for the death of her husband when he was killed by being struck of a street car in Vancouver. The action was tried on September 30 last by a judge and jury, but the jury disagreed. The plaintiff then applied for an order allowing the amendment of her writ and statement of claim, by setting up a further allegation of negligence by the operator of a second street car. That order having been granted, the defendant brought this appeal, claiming that the further allegations of negligence amounted to a new cause of action and was barred, as it was not brought within one year, as required "By the Family Compensation Act" (R.S., B.C., Chapter 93, Section 5).

Counsel for the respondent submitted that the deceased, while crossing the street in front of a street car, did not notice a car on the other track and in order to avoid this second street car, stepped back and was struck by the first car. The amendment would allow the respondent to give evidence of negligence on the part of the second street car operator, in addition to the evidence of negligence on the part of the first operator, but did not involve the setting up of a new cause of action. Judgment was reserved.

W. B. Farris, K.C., for the appellant; C. Carmichael for the respondent.

Seattle Longshoremen Expect Harry Bridges Will Settle Controversy

SEATTLE, Jan. 11 (AP).—Seattle longshoremen today awaited arrival of their Pacific Coast president, Harry Bridges, to take a hand in the dispute with employers which has tied up this port since Wednesday.

The controversy is over interpretation of "slingboards" handling of cargoes. It broke over the Canadian carrier Border Prince. Bridges, in early statements, said the vessel had no agreement with the International Longeshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Both sides continued negotiations today, with C. B. Warren, president of the Waterfront Employers' Association of Seattle, stating "we are really not getting anywhere."

Retired Colonel Is Visiting Victoria During Circuit Of Globe

Traveling 'round the world in tramp steamers in search of a "different" holiday after a busy life in the Civil Service and as an amateur soldier, Colonel H. W. Chapman, London, is paying a brief visit to Victoria before sailing for the Antipodes.

A veteran of two wars, Colonel Chapman recently retired from the Civil Service and also from the Territorial Army. He served in South Africa at the beginning of the century, and on the Western Front during the Great War, being wounded in 1916, and later transferring from the infantry to the Royal Army Service Corps.

Colonel Chapman is a keen rifle shot, and for many years has represented his county at the Bisley meetings. As one of the staff of the National Rifle Association, he became acquainted with the members of the Canadian teams each year, and renewed some of those acquaintanceships while in Vancouver.

On board the freighter King Robert, Colonel Chapman voyaged from London to Vancouver in forty days, and on Friday he will embark on the King James, at Port Alberni, sailing thence for Australia and England. After wandering for six months, he expects to arrive in England in May, in time to go into training for the Bisley meeting in July. He is staying here at the Empress Hotel.

Popular Broadcast Is Heard From Dominion Astrophysical Observatory

Victoria was on the air, coast to coast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when the broadcast of "Night Shift" was presented from the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain.

W. J. Herbert was the announcer and conducted an interview with Dr. W. E. Harper, director, and members of his staff, as they inspected the huge dome and office building.

E. C. Finlay was the engineer in charge and J. R. Radford, regional director from Vancouver, supervised the production.

"Night Shift" is a broadcast heard weekly over the national chain dealing with Canadian industries, for the purpose of acquainting the public more fully with them.

The broadcast dealt with the visit to the dome and a practical demonstration of photographing a star. Dr. Harper explained the uses of the various instruments, and later the principals visited the observatory office and library, where interesting phases of the work carried on there were enumerated.

A MATTER OF OPINION

Sir George Paish, a notoriously erratic prophet of the economic outlook, predicts that the present will be a bad year in a material sense. It was Sir George who said that the Great War would not last for more than six months, as he believed there would not be enough money to prolong it any further. In 1935 he envisioned economic catastrophe as coming in the following year because of expenditure on armaments. He has acquired a habit of seeing depression around every corner, and the reason for this pessimistic outlook is that he is an ardent exponent of free trade.

Almost every prophecy about economic development or retrogression is merely the expression of an individual opinion. In fact it is mere guesswork, because no one can foresee untoward events, or estimate the incalculable ability of the human mind in meeting with either triumph or disaster. To offset what Sir George Paish prophesies for the present year the opinion of Viscount Horne may well be set in juxtaposition. His belief is that there is no reason at all why the world should not be advancing to prosperity. In Great Britain he sees a large amount of work to be done in connection with industry generally. This is not because of the great armament programme that is in progress, but because, in general, conditions are good, and he points out that even more development is being postponed until a period when trade and industry are less preoccupied than at present; in fact, he says, for this reason, he knows, as chairman of the Great Western Railway Company, of millions of pounds worth of work being left in abeyance. The same is the case with Government departments and municipal authorities. In Great Britain, at all events, the intrinsic position is sound, and in that country nothing like the peak of industry has been reached and trade has not approached its reasonable level. Viscount Horne is much nearer to the heart of the industrial situation than is Sir George Paish. He speaks on the basis of realities, not theories.

"RECESSIONAL"

The manuscript of Rudyard Kipling's poem, "Recessional," has been presented by Lord Baldwin to the British Museum. Dr. H. L. Bell, the Keeper of Manuscripts at the Museum, tells the story of the poem. "At the time it was written, in the Diamond Jubilee year of Queen Victoria, Kipling had as his guest Miss Sara Norton, the daughter of a distinguished American scholar, who was sitting with him on one occasion when he was going through some papers and from time to time throwing some of them into a wastepaper basket. Miss Norton obtained permission to look at the contents of the basket. Among other things she picked out a sheet of paper on which was written a poem on the Diamond Jubilee, headed "After." She urged at once that it should be published, but Kipling demurred. Finally she persuaded him, after much argument, to refer the matter to the decision of Lady Burnes-Jones, in whose house they were staying at Rottingdean. The latter agreed with Miss Norton, and Kipling reduced the poem from seven to five stanzas and adopted a suggestion made that there should be a repetition as a refrain in the second and third of the last couplet of the first stanza:

Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget.

Kipling did not claim credit for the poem as a whole. When he added an "Amen" and his signature, he wrote beneath—"Done in council at North End House, July 16. Aunt Georgie, Sallie, Carrie and me." When a fresh copy had been made the poem was sent to The Times and appeared in that paper on July 17 under the now familiar title, "Recessional." In referring to the disclosure made by Dr. Bell, The Times says any ordinary man will marvel at the genius which could throw such a poem off and at the critical power than could throw it away. Kipling obviously did not realize how good the poem was or how his spirit had been finely touched to a fine issue.

CHRISTIAN NAMES

In an effort to find out what Christian names of women are most popular in England, a well-known weekly not long ago put the matter to a vote. A prize was awarded, on the basis of the general vote of the competition, to the person whose list approximated most closely to the names that, in the result, received the greatest number of votes. The competitors were not asked to make a list of names that appealed to them on personal grounds, but simply to set down the most popular names. No one could have been greatly surprised at the result, in its main features at least, for the names of Mary, Elizabeth, Margaret, Ann and Joan, in that order, were at the top of the list, and fairly close together. These names were not more than twenty votes apart, and a gap of fifty votes separated them from the remainder of the dozen, which were arranged in the following order: Dorothy, Marjory or Margery, Kathleen, Barbara, Jean and Betty.

Every parent, no doubt, wishes to give his child a name that will both fit well and wear well. There are those who have been, or who believe themselves to have been, handicapped throughout life by an unsuitable name. A name may be an "intriguing" one for a girl of thirteen which sounds flat enough at twenty. The same motive that leads parents to confer fancy names upon their offspring may move the bearer of an old-fashioned name to spell it in an unusual way. How many boys there are with "unusual" names which do not admit of shortened substitutes or friendly diminutives, who would be made very happy if by a miracle their names could be changed to Bob or Jack or Harry? It would be interesting to take a census to determine how many people are dissatisfied with the names they received in infancy.

Names are often given to helpless infants in the belief that a proper name is really significant, that it is something more than a mere label, that in fact it suggests a quality or a set of qualities, and that a subtle influence flows from the name to the wearer. Something, however, prevents cautious parents from carrying the idea too far. It does not often happen that a child is required to carry the heavy weight of a name like Ajax, Achilles, Socrates or Galahad. The names of some mighty heroes, however, have become popular. Perhaps it is a certain homely domestic quality about the great Hector which makes his name a favorite. Arthur Wellington was thought a safe name for the son of a soldier a century ago. A boy names Ulysees made good as a fighting man and became President of the American republic. On the other hand there are names which, by reason of their associations, are absolutely out of the question. Has anyone ever heard of a boy being "named for" an unpleasant character in literature? The names of some historical characters are not likely to be repeated. There are no Herods or Jezebels nowadays.

Some names that have quite a run at one time lose popularity a few decades later. Is there any way of estimating the popularity of names today, short of a census or a voting contest? Any sizable gathering of young people whose Christian names can be ascertained may supply some data. After all, statistics furnish only tendencies and probabilities, not certainties. There was held during the festive season in Victoria recently a meeting of one hundred and sixty-nine young people in their teens, ninety lads and seventy-nine lasses. Their Christian names were recorded and tabulated. The seventy-nine girls had forty-six names distributed among them and the ninety lads bore forty-three. Twenty-nine of the girls' names had but one representative each, and thirty-two of the boys were "singletons." Of the girls there were seven with the name of Elizabeth, six with that of Jean or a variant, three Helens, Dianas and Phyllises, and two each of Angela, Barbara, Eileen, Josephine, Rosemary, Susan and Yvonne. Among the lads there were fourteen bearing the solid and dependable name of John or a variant, seven Peters, four Davids, three each of Alastair, James, Michael, Robert and William, and two each of Alexander, Philip and Richard.

REMARKABLE TRADE DEVELOPMENT

One of the most remarkable trade developments of recent years has been the phenomenal increase in Japanese cotton exports. In 1932 Japan exported 788,000 square yards of cotton piece goods to the United States; in 1933, 1,115,000; in 1934, 7,000,000; in 1935, 36,000,000, and in 1936, 77,000,000 square yards. In the Dominions and the Colonies of the British Empire, Japan in 1936 found markets for £10,700,000 worth of cotton piece goods. The United Kingdom's exports of such goods to the same territories in 1936 were valued at £21,726,000. It is recorded that ten years ago the United Kingdom sold about £35,000,000 worth of this form of merchandise to India, whereas in 1936 the value had fallen to under £7,000,000. Japan has been invading that market to an ever-increasing extent. In 1913 she sent less than 3,000,000 yards to India; in 1927, 243,000,000 yards, and in 1936, 496,000,000 yards. Japanese exports of these goods to India now exceed those of the United Kingdom.

Italy's shortage in all kinds of metals has given birth to crime in a somewhat new category. There is a gang now specializing in the theft of door-knockers, of handles in palaces and bronze decorations and brass plates. Electric wire is also being cut off and taken, leaving villages in darkness; even transformer cabins made of iron have been carried away. The lucrative end of this "business" lies in selling the proceeds to industries which pay high prices because they are forbidden to import metal from abroad.

Out of Place

There is a proper place and time for everything, even to throwing pop bottles, but a crowded gymnasium is certainly not the place for such practices. During the excitement at the Tillicum gymnasium last Saturday evening some of the fans, for no apparent reason at all, started tossing empty pop bottles, and it was only good luck that prevented anyone from being seriously injured. Such acts should be stopped and stopped immediately. No one begrudges people having a lot of fun and enjoying wrestling matches even with a riot thrown in, but when it comes to throwing pop bottles, that's another matter, and certainly something that does not belong in a wrestling gymnasium. —S.T.

Glancing Over Sport

Canadian golf suffered a severe setback over the week-end when the news was flashed over the radio and telegraph wire that Russ Case, former British Columbia open champion and runner-up in the provincial amateur to Kenny Lawson last Summer at the Uplands course, had gone to the Fairways Beyond with extreme suddenness. His demise shocked British Columbia golf officials, as Russ was one of the best-liked personalities ever to set foot on a fairway in this city. He also was a member of the British Columbia Willingdon Cup team which traveled to Ottawa in 1937. His teammates, Kenny Lawson, Jimmy Todd and Ken Black, will certainly miss him, as will hundreds of golfing spectators and sport writers. The last time I talked to Russ was in the British Columbia open tournament here at Oak Bay in September, when he lost his crown to Jimmy Todd. Case was in the city in November to play in the Remembrance Day meet at Uplands. Although forty years old, Russ took up golf late in life, being only at it for seven years. Two years after he swung his first club he won the Marine Drive Club title and five seasons later he topped the field in the provincial open with four remarkable rounds. In the Canadian amateur last year he was ushered to the side lines by Defending Champion Freddy Haas, from New Orleans, despite the fact he shot under-par golf. Russ was an expert billiard player and could hold his own with the best amateurs in the province. There wasn't a better loser in golf than Russ Case.—J.D.

Peep at "Down Under"

In scanning pages of a large Adelaide, South Australia, newspaper we ran across the following interesting facts . . . A penalty of 5 per cent is slapped on taxes unpaid at the end of each November . . . Tasmania is advertised as the "air-conditioned" state . . . Bread sells at nine cents per thirty-two-ounce loaf . . . Housewives has a strong association actively interested in matters affecting the family budget . . . On November 26 the temperature in Adelaide was 105.9 degrees . . . Firewood is sold by the ton . . . An automobile with good tires advertised for sale is called "well shod" . . . Room and board may be secured for as little as $5 per week . . . Picture shows spend large sums on newspaper advertising . . . Bacon sells for twenty-one cents per pound . . . Servants may be secured for as little as $7.50 per month and room and board.—G.B.

Tragedy

People are apt to regard reporters as a callous race, devoid of feeling in tragedies that are deeply moving to their fellows; yet I think it comes as just as great a shock to us as to the man on the street to learn of a fatality such as that recorded in Canadian Press dispatches yesterday morning. Trying to work on Monday night, it was difficult for me to erase from my mind the picture of cheery Douglas MacKay sitting up in bed in his hotel room and apologizing because he hadn't a "story" to give me, when I barged in on him late at night. And his "Well, cheerio; see you again in a month or so," when he left Victoria on Saturday to hurry back to Winnipeg for his wedding anniversary" . . . Then two days later comes the news of his death when the Northwest Airlines plane crashed.—R.M.

"You'll be very careful on my polished floor, won't you?"

"That'll be all right, ma'am," replied the plumber, "we 'as nails in our boots."

ALDERMAN ISSUES CEMETERY REPORT

Alderman John A. Worthington's annual report on Ross Bay Cemetery, filed at the City Hall yesterday, showed overexpenditure of $44.49 on a wage appropriation of $3,560.88, caused by the 5 per cent pay cut restoration made on October 1.

In the maintenance appropriation of $714, a balance of eleven cents was shown. Cemetery fees totaled $2,557.50. Relief labor at the cemetery cost $4,512.95. Contracts for perpetual maintenance of plots netted the sum of $1,355.

B.C. ENGINEERS IN CONVENTION

Fifty Delegates Will Be Taken to See Malahat Section Today

District engineers and others of the Provincial Department of Public Works gathered in conference here on road matters will continue their discussions today, under H. L. Swan, engineer in charge of Vancouver Island and part of Mackenzie riding. Hard surfacing by modern methods will be studied, with a visit to new portions of the Malahat sections of the Island Highway during the day.

Yesterday, under E. S. Jones, fifty delegates at the convention considered papers on surveys, highway construction, snow removal and allied topics, with H. C. Anderson opening the discussion.

A. L. Carruthers, senior bridge engineer, led a discussion on foundations, concrete, bridge timbers and analogous matters.

The convention will continue until towards the end of the week.

CREDIT SOUGHT CHANGES LITTLE

Businessmen Report That Last Year Did Not Vary Much From Preceding Year

At a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association held yesterday in Spencers' dining-room, a general discussion of the business situation as it affected the various firms over the new year was held, with suggestions offered for the coming season.

The opinion was gleaned from the meeting that according to the showing, credit sought this past year had not altered materially from what it was over the preceding year, when compared with the cash transactions.

For next week's meeting, the association is in hope of having a speaker present to address the members on the subject of business letters.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of January 12, 1888)

Floating Dock—Messrs. Leamy & Kyle's new floating dock has been completed at their mill on False Creek, and is now waiting a favorable tide to be launched. It will then be towed round to the Inlet and moored somewhere in Coal Harbor. It is constructed of heavy timbers, and is 100 feet long by 40 feet wide, and 14 feet deep, being planked up for 7 feet. Its lifting capacity will be over 600 tons, and it will be able to take most of the steamers plying to that port.

Rev. P. M. McLeod Coming — Rev. P. M. McLeod, of the Central Presbyterian Church, Toronto, has accepted the call extended by St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of this city, and will probably arrive here about the second week in February, accompanied by his family.

A Poet Laureate—Yesterday we had the pleasure of grasping by the hand Dr. Robert Morris, the poet laureate of Freemasonry, who will make a brief stay in the city and province before returning to his home in Kentucky. Dr. Morris comes to the craft, here, with the very highest recommendations. He is a brother in high standing, and is a poet whose muse is appreciated wherever the English language is spoken or read. Dr. Morris will lecture on Friday evening at the Masonic Temple, under the approbation of W. Brother Grand Master Milne and the two lodges in this city.

LAST RITES FOR R. B. DUNN

Tributes Paid to Noted Journalist at Funeral Service In St. Andrew's Church

"We are here to do honor to a worthy man." In these simple words, Rev. Dr. J. K. Unsworth opened his address of tribute to the memory of the late Robert B. Dunn, doyen of Victoria journalists, during an impressive funeral service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon.

The large and representative congregation at the church bore silent testimony to the esteem and respect which the late Mr. Dunn won for himself during his long years of residence in the city, and when the service concluded, a very long cortege proceeded to Colwood Burial Park, where the committal rites were conducted at the family plot.

LITERARY ABILITY

The service in the church opened with a prayer by Dr. Unsworth, and the hymn "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go," followed by Scripture readings by Rev. P. C. Hayman, who paid a brief but fitting tribute to the memory of Mr. Dunn, of whose literary ability, cheerful personality, and upstanding character he spoke in terms of warm praise.

"R. B. Dunn was one of Victoria's best-known citizens—not, indeed, as to his physical appearance, for he lived a quiet life, but as to the soul of the man, his real self," said Dr. Unsworth, who delivered the main address.

"For many years he wrote his daily column, 'Note and Comment,' in The Colonist," Dr. Unsworth continued. "A columnist is of all newspapermen the best known. Because of his special job he must be personal, intimate, friendly, and frank. He cannot but bare his soul to the public gaze. So it was that R.B.D. was the best-known man on The Colonist staff, even to many who never saw him in the flesh. There are people scattered all over the world who really knew this man.

KEEN OBSERVER

"He was a genial soul, well-balanced and wise; a friendly man, kindly disposed toward human nature, not thinking too severely of its foibles and sins, and he was a keen observer of social and political life, with three score years' experience in the world of journalism.

"I cannot remember any note of criticism ever creeping into his discussions from day to day," Dr. Unsworth declared. "He was a fighter who stood stoutly for truth as he saw it, but he always fought fairly and was strong for all the reverences of life, for the sacredness of the home, of religion, and of democracy, and for the worth of personality, of work, and of courtesy. And through it all flowed the humor that oils the contacts of life.

FAIR AND KIND

"Never did R.B.D. write a word or suggest a thought that could not be discussed at the family supper table. For those who had the privilege of his acquaintance, appreciation of the fine qualities of the man deepened into regard and affection. One could not help liking him. One might disagree with him, but he was fair and kind. He was businesslike and he was kindly, and my heart went out to him on the day we first met."

Dr. Unsworth concluded with an assurance to those to whom the passing of Mr. Dunn was a special sorrow, that they were surrounded by a great company of sympathetic friends and admirers of a noble character.

THE PALLBEARERS

The service ended with the singing of "Abide With Me," and the strains of that hymn rang out on the church bells as the casket was borne down the aisle by Alderman Archie Wills, Sandham Graves, S. R. Bowden, C. F. Banfield, C. F. Moriarty and O. H. Nelson.

Honorary pallbearers were Major Gordon Smith, William Dee, Christian Sivertz, Charles Swayne, Alex McKeachie, H. Wheeler and James Morton.

S. J. Curry & Son directed the funeral arrangements.

Many beautiful floral emblems were laid upon the grave, among them being wreaths from The Daily Colonist, The Colonist editorial staff, The Colonist business office; Victoria Lodge No. 1, A.O.U.W.; officers and members of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Institute of Journalists, and the Pacific Club. Individual floral tributes were sent by Premier T. D. Pattullo, Hon. John Hart, and many personal friends of the late Mr. Dunn.

The annual meeting of the Lake Hill Community Centre will be held Thursday at 8 p.m., when the financial report will be presented. Officers will be elected and the programme arranged for the coming year.

What Today Means

"CAPRICORN"

If January 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m., to 12:45 p.m.; from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a.m.; from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m., and from 10:45 p.m. until midnight.

Try to keep your mind free from prejudices this day, for warped opinions may result in serious mistakes. A high degree of diligence, as well as a thoroughness of application to the principles, terms and the specific means involved in solving personal problems, will bring good results this day. You may discover that the average person will be a typification of "Job's comforter," so it will be good judgment to ignore pessimistic remarks. Hold steadfast to cherished beliefs, and have faith in your own ability, for something surprisingly good may be the outcome of your earnest endeavors. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose matrimonial hopes seem about to be realized, should avoid sarcasm because it may lead to unhappiness.

If a woman and January 12 is your birthday, you ought to be blessed with an abundance of common sense. You might not be very demonstrative, but have, most likely, a depth of affection, which will be recognized through your actions. Your ability to plan your work in a systematic way, perhaps will have a decided bearing upon your future, especially in a pecuniary way. You will find that people born under the signs of Cancer or Virgo, will be the most congenial for you to associate with. You can do things much better quietly, than if you try to do anything in a spectacular manner. Through some branch of office work, selling, writing, professionally entertaining, demonstrating or modelling, your opportunities to "make good" ought to be unlimited. In your pursuit of happiness, marriage appears to offer the best medium through which to secure it.

The child born on January 12 must not be pampered too much. This youngster must be taught self-reliance, as well as the danger of too much self-complacency. Its future will be greatly influenced by its early training.

If a man and January 12 is your natal day, you cannot afford to be indifferent to any cultural advantages you may have, or any opportunity that might be presented to become socially popular. As a publicity agent, broker, banker, promoter, politician, actor, clergyman, journalist, or manufacturer you should have great money-making possibilities.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

The only question of the examination that produced more answers in disagreement with my decision than answers in support of it was No. 10. This was no surprise to me. The question was a tough one, included deliberately to test tactics. This question was:

You are vulnerable; opponents are not. You are South. West deals and the bidding goes as follows:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Double | 3 ♠ | ? |

Your holding is:

♠ 6 5 4 2 ♥ 9 7 6 5 3 ♦ K 4 3 ♣ 7

What call do you make?

The answer was: You should bid four hearts, etc.

Some readers were scandalized at the thought that they should enter the bidding freely at the four level, vulnerable, with only one-half an honor trick in their hand. I can sympathize with their fear of such a bid, but this does not alter the fact that four hearts is the best action available to South. Competitive bidding is by far the most difficult to confine within the rigid bounds of rules and requirements. The situation as set forth in the bidding is just this:

North's vulnerable, against a non-vulnerable team, has doubled the highest ranking suit (spades) for a takeout. East, who certainly would prefer to "lay for" vulnerable opponents if his hand warranted, has tried to shut South out of the bidding. Now, for analysis of South's holding. Quite true, he has only one-half an honor trick. But, for all of that, to describe South's hand as horrible is to be grossly inaccurate. South can virtually see that his hand will fit perfectly with North's. First, North's double of spades virtually guaranteed strong heart support. If South passes to three spades West is quite likely to bid four spades. North may have a hand that will then impel him to enter the bidding at the five level; something like this:

♠ 8 ♥ A Q 10 4 ♦ Q 6 ♣ A Q J 8 7 5

A five club bid by North would be in the nature of a tragedy. South could not rescue with five hearts. Yet there would be a fair play for that contract, and four hearts would be almost a laydown. Thus the four heart bid by South is in the deepest sense an anticipatory bid.

TODAY'S HAND

NORTH
♠ A K 5
♥ A J 8 6 4 3 2
♦ Q
♣ 9 8

| WEST | EAST |

SOUTH
♠ 10 8 6 3 2

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♥ | Pass | 1 ♠ | Pass |
| 3 ♥ | Double | Pass | Pass |
| 3 ♠ | Double | Pass | Pass |
| Pass | | | |

East's bidding should be studied as a model of correct "trapping." Due to the respective vulnerability conditions, East's pass over one heart was, of course, sound strategy, but he did not make the mistake of "overstaying his market." Although North's three heart bid was a semi-force. West, with his great defensive strength, properly refused to gamble on the bidding going further. It was much too likely, he realized, that South would refuse to accept the urge and, thus, he (East) would be left high and dry against an undoubted contract. Of course, he did not like three spades nearly as much as he did three hearts, but, having already warned the enemy, he recognized there would be little chance of South's going to four spades, hence he "stepped" on the three bid.

Perfect defence involving spade leads at every opportunity resulted in a 500 point penalty, a good match point score for East-West.

Stocks Work Up Late Rally in New York Mart

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP).—Stocks worked up a mild last-minute rally in today's market after a shifty session during which most leaders were lower.

Most early declines running to 1 point or more were replaced with advances of fractions, but there were a few wider upturns when the final gong sounded.

Quiet profit realizing was the rule most of the day.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was up .3 of 1 point at 47.9. Transfers aggregated 1,506,260 shares, compared with 1,827,510 yesterday.

Japanese issues and some junior rails lost considerable ground in an otherwise steady bond market today.

Japanese Government 5 1-2's fell 8 1-2 to 56 1-2. The 6 1-2's dropped 4 1-8 to 76, while various industrial and municipal loans of the empire slid off 1 to around 7.

United States Government farm loans were up 4-32ds. to 9-32ds., while treasuries closed 5-32ds. lower to 1-32ds. higher.

METALS PUSH UP TO HIGHER LEVEL

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP).—Stimulated by another wide advance in the base metal prices in London and New York, base metal stocks pushed into still higher ground today on Toronto market.

International Nickel closed at 50 3-8, a net advance of 5-8. Noranda gained 3-4 and Smelters added 1-2. The cheaper base metals improved moderately including Waite-Amulet, Pend Oreille, Sherritt and Falconbridge. Coast Copper gained 30. Ventures and Sudbury Basin were off.

Dome Gold advanced 1 3-4 to 55 1-2 and McIntyre a point to 41 1-2 and Lakeshore gained 1-4. The close was up 5 to 10 for Anglo-Huronian, Macassa, McWatters and Wright-Hargreaves.

Brazilian Traction closed up 7-8 net at 11 5-8 on an official announcement the company was not affected by the new Brazilian restrictions on the transfer of exchange.

Junior oils more than wiped out early losses. Texas-Canadian was a feature of the trade, closing 19 cents higher at 1.53 in heavy action. Okalta, Home and Calgary & Edmonton firmed 6 to 9 cents each and smaller gains were boarded by Dalhousie, West Turner and Vulcan. Brown and West Flank were lower.

One of the briefer musical criticisms appeared in the paper back home: "An amateur string quartette played Brahms here last evening. Brahms lost."

STOCKS RECOVER IN LATE REACTION

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP).—The stock market recovered its footing late today, but was unable to erase most early declines.

A quick about-face came when Brazilian Traction strengthened 3-4 to 11 1-2 after touching 10 1-2. The rally coincided with a company statement clarifying the firm's position in relation to new exchange decrees in Brazil.

Smelters coasted ahead, reaching 63 3-4 for a gain of 1 1-4. Ahead fractions were Nickel and Noranda. Fractional losses showed in National Steel Car and C.P.R.

While Price Brothers common and St. Lawrence Corporation issues sold narrowly lower, Price preferred gained 4 to 49.

Up fractions to a point were United Steel and Canada Cement. Dominion Bridge and Dominion Steel "B" gave ground.

WHEAT BEARS ON SELLING SPLURGE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11 (CP).—Bears, heretofore stepped on in the young 1938 Winnipeg grain market, went into action today with a selling splurge large enough to knock wheat prices more than 3 cents lower.

Key to their action came from Chicago and Buenos Aires which registered losses of around 2 cents. Final values were 3 1-4 to 2 cents lower, May at $1.27 3-4; July, $1.19 1-4 and October $1.00 5-8 to $1.00 3-4.

Commission houses and Continental firms were credited with scattered purchases. Liverpool ended an erratic session 1-8d higher to 1-2d lower. Hedging pressure of Australian wheat wiped out early gains. Buenos Aires in mid-afternoon deals was 2 1-8 cents off. Beneficial rains were said to have fallen in the centre and north of Santa Fe Provinces and it was forecast more precipitation would develop.

Top grades of red Spring cash wheat closed unchanged. No. 1 and 2 Northern at 24 and 14 cents premium over May future. Demands for durums was slow, but spreads at times were slightly higher.

Apart from export buying in barley coarse grains had a dull day. Oats closed 1 1-4 to 1 1-8 lower, barley 5-8 to 1 1-8 lower, flax 1-4 to 7-8 higher, and rye 1 5-8 cent lower.

WHAT'S DOING ON THE LOCAL RETAIL PRODUCE MARKET

A small shipment of oranges will be here today. There will be a shortage of small-size oranges on the local market until after the fifteenth of the month, when another shipment is due to arrive. Oranges are still selling for extremely low prices and wholesalers report no signs of any change. Southern navels will be supplying the market after the middle of the month. These oranges are slightly higher in price than the Northern variety.

California lettuce and spinach are arriving daily, and a shipment of California cauliflower, sprouts, beans and brocolli is expected today.

Okanagan apples came in yesterday. Included in the consignment were Spies, Delicious, Wagner and Newtowns.

Texas grapefruit of very good quality is now on the market and is selling well.

There is still a small amount of mandarin oranges left, but the Emperor grapes are completely cleaned up and the sawdust variety is supplying the demand.

A shipment of calavos came in on Monday. Rhubarb is arriving daily from Vancouver.

CHAPTER XIII

Terry Cantine's grey eyes widened at Caradad's unexpected question. She sat watching him soberly. Before he spoke Terry rapped the ash from his pipe and thrust it into his pocket.

"What makes you think something is wrong, Dad?"

"I know it," she said simply. "Is it business?"

"Why . . . if anything. Things haven't been going any too well; but I didn't know I was grousing that much. Sorry."

"I wish you could tell me."

"Oh, it's merely an uphill game. These past few years have been tough—even for folks with money to invest. They're cagey. I never bother with anything that isn't gilt-edge, and my friends know it. But it's the everlasting playing along with them that gets on my nerves. I mean the big game. You know that a lot of big deals are put across down home by a couple of fellows perched on a corral rail, chewing tobacco or whittling sticks. Well, it's a good deal like that in a big town, nowadays."

"What do you mean?"

"That big business isn't done in private offices the way it used to be. It's taken to lunching at exclusive clubs, riding to hounds and playing golf. All very nice—if you can afford the time and money."

"Oh! I see. You mean it takes money to make money."

"Very concisely put, my dear. That's the whole thing in a nutshell."

Caradad looked very thoughtful. Terry's account of his business was startlingly like the one Mrs. Greenway had given her. He had unusual business talents, but it needed money to exploit them. And Mrs. Greenway was worried—and helpless. That was because she cared. So much that she was afraid Terry might become interested in some girl who would prove an additional burden . . . be the "end" of him. Caradad found herself wondering suddenly what Mrs. Greenway's attitude would be should some woman, another woman, mark the "beginning" of Terry Cantine.

"That's all very different from anything I've ever known," she conceded slowly. "Do you think it's worth the investment—and worry?"

"Probably not," was Terry's prompt response. "But I wasn't cut out to play the piker.—I saw enough of that at home with the old gentleman. He was content to plod along and take a little profit here and there. And what did it get him? A chance to retire from hard work, but not from pinching nickels. I have to play for big stakes, whether I win or not. And I propose to have a little fun as I go along."

"I'm not sure that I blame you," Caradad mused. "I've felt the same way."

"You!" Terry's laugh rang out for the first time that evening. "Excuse me," he apologized, "but that sounded funny. I can't somehow think of you as the business woman . . . I forgot. I reckon you have had to get into it some."

"Yes. I've had to learn a good deal about Pop's affairs since . . ."

"Sure. I know. Good experience for any woman. Only hope it doesn't bring you too much worry."

"I wish, Terry, there was something I could do to help you"

It came out hesitatingly; but, to Caradad's relief, the response was not the laugh she anticipated. Instead, Terry regarded her soberly for a long minute before replying unexpectedly, "Why?"

"I guess it's because we've been—neighbors."

Terry's nearest hand came out with an impulsive gesture, covered both of Caradad's lying folded in her lap.

"Thanks, pardner. That's the nicest thing I've heard since I hit this town. They don't know about that neighbor stuff here." He gave her small fingers a squeeze and withdrew his hand. "Don't you bother your little head over me. I'll always make out. My main job right now is to see that you have a good time while you're around here. If you don't see what you want, ask for it and we'll round it up."

Caradad responded with a worried little smile. "About Friday night, Terry. Will those people—will it be formal? Of course, I'm thinking about clothes. If you'd rather, I could ask Mrs. Greenway . . ."

"Don't ask anybody," was the brusque retort. "Wear whatever you want — you'll look all right. There is never much formality around Nick's place and the few who will be there are all good pals. You never know how many crashers you'll run into up there, but they don't count."

"Crashers?"

"Oh, I mean that most any of Nick's acquaintances are apt to drop in day or night if they have a thirst—a sort of public house. But it's such a rambling place we won't have any trouble finding a private corral for our herd. And, speaking of clothes, don't feel that you have to go out and squander your money on an outfit you may not want again in a hurry. That would be silly."

"I suppose so. But I don't want to disgrace you."

COMPLAIN OF POOR ROADS

Highway Signs Also Criticized by Tourists—Others Like Hanging Flowers

A complaint of long standing, the poor roads on Vancouver Island, is being brought more forcibly to the fore in the replies to questionnaires received at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. Hand in hand with this criticism is another to the effect that road signs on the highways are too small and inconspicuous to be read, and mile posts are inaccurate.

From a Redlands, California, resident came this reply: "The highways were rather poor in many places due to the worn surface. The road to Upper Campbell Lake might be put in better condition, as we found that trip from Comox most interesting, but the road, especially beyond Forbes Landing, was very poor and driving was difficult."

A Pasadena lady wrote: "The road to the north could be greatly improved. It is poorly made and torn up in many places and was being worked upon during the tourist season. This made a bad impression on me."

Although voicing appreciation for the courtesy of the local citizenry, many tourists nevertheless aired their views on other matters quite openly.

HIGHWAY SIGNS

Two young lady visitors from Riverside, California, had this to say: "We particularly noticed the courteous way in which the people in Victoria received us, which meant a great deal inasmuch as we found it very difficult to find our way around in our auto due to the lack of highway signs. We also noticed your highway signs do not give accurate mileage reading. Several signs will give the same mileage to a certain point, and yet these signs are miles apart, so one doesn't know what to believe. I think we spent most of our time getting lost."

From Red Bluff, California, a man wrote: "Lettering on directional signs is too small, making them illegible from a car in many instances. Enjoyed Show Boat very much."

HIGH PRICES

High prices came in for criticism from two other tourist parties. A Burbank, California, man said: "The uniform courtesy of the people was a pleasure. It seemed to be indicated that prices were increased during the tourist season."

A Sacramento man remarked: "We thought the handling of cars both on the Port Angeles-Victoria and Nanaimo-Vancouver ferry very poor. Hotel rates and food very high."

More in a complimentary spirit were these extracts from questionnaires: "I was charmed with Victoria and the Island, and sincerely hope to return again soon, and for a much longer stay."

"We were greatly impressed by the reception received when landing at Victoria harbor from Port Angeles."

"Our stay was thoroughly pleasant and interesting at all times; we enjoyed the hanging flowers on Victoria's main streets."

ACCEPTING NO LIFTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP).—Dressed in kilts, Jock Scott, fifty-four, one-time bus driver, of Greenock, Scotland, stepped off the Ss. Aquitania today for a little walk around the American continent. On his back he carried a sixty-pound luggage kit. He said he would consider it "unethical" for him to accept lifts.

It was announced that the Crow patrol had won the patrol competition for the last two months period, followed by the Eagles, Hawks, Herons, Owls and Gulls, respectively. A prize for the leading all-round scout was presented to Dave Gornall. Games and a period in the patrol dens followed. Major Wise, district commissioner, officiated at a ceremony in which ex-Scoutmaster Scharff received his warrant as Rover Scout Leader and ex-Assistant Scoutmaster Jack Fawcett received his warrant as Scoutmaster. Both leaders renewed their scout promise before receiving the warrants. Three cheers for the leaders were then proposed by the commissioner, and were heartily given by the troop. After two more games, a bean feed took place. A court of honor of patrol leaders met to discuss plans for the coming season.

FIRST CATHEDRAL WOLF CUBS

First Cathedral Wolf Cubs and parents met after the cub meeting to accept the resignation of a long friend and valuable cubmaster, J. W. Munroe. Mr. Munroe gave his services for twenty-seven years, but owing to ill health was forced to resign. Assistant E. E. Pywell was made the new cubmaster. The meeting was well attended, and before the close Mr. Munroe was presented with a lovely timepiece and an illuminated address containing the names of the 1937 pack, to which he suitably replied. The meeting closed by singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

FATE OF CLIPPER PLANE IN DOUBT

Carrying 900 pounds of express, the clipper was making her second round-trip flight on the recently-inaugurated Hawaii-New Zealand Pan American route.

SMOKE OVER OCEAN

The naval plane scouted the sea west of Somoa, where some residents reported they had seen smoke over the ocean this morning. Pan American officials here said the report from Apia, British Somoa, seventy-four miles west of Pago Pago, had originated with a local operator there and they believed the report was authentic.

The last report from the plane was at 8:27 a.m. (12:27 p.m., P.S.T.) when the crew reported they were dumping gas and preparing to land because of the oil leak.

No position was obtained from the plane, which carried no passengers, and Pan American officials here said they were without word from Apia concerning the fate of the crew.

WEATHER REPORTED GOOD

Weather conditions in the Samoan area were reported to be good and airways officials pointed out the clipper was capable of weathering considerable rough weather.

A spokesman expressed belief the big ship might have landed in the lee of one of the many islands in the Samoan group, and that she had come down within 200 miles of Pago Pago.

Crew members besides Captain Musick, the airways headquarters here said, are C. G. Sellers, first officer; P. S. Brunk, junior flight officer; F. J. McLean, navigator; J. W. Stikrod, engineering officer; A. A. Brooks, assistant engineering officer, and J. F. Findley, radio officer.

Cruising speeds of the clipper, depending upon weather and wind, are between 120 and 150 miles per hour, which would have put her from 280 to 350 miles from Pago Pago when she turned back.

FIRST FORCED DOWN

No plane of the airways system ever before has been reported forced down on a trans-Pacific flight, although several times planes on the California-Manila route have turned back to starting points because of adverse weather or motor trouble.

The Hawaii-New Zealand route, designed for passenger service at some future date, was pioneered by the Samoan Clipper in a flight last month.

When she left Honolulu on Sunday on the second flight, she carried only express, since the United States Government has not yet authorized the carrying of mail on the route.

AND THEY REALLY DO

Hoaxer—Did you hear what they do with ferry boats when they're late?

Butt—No, what?

Hoaxer—Dock 'em.

Women's Canadian Club Holds Successful Tea

Entertainment in Aid of Bursary Fund, Given Yesterday Afternoon at Empress Hotel, Attended By More Than 400 Guests

With more than four hundred guests present, including the honorary president, Mrs. Eric W. Hamber, and several other specially-invited friends, the Women's Canadian Club musical and tea held at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon was a great success, both socially and financially. The club bursary fund will benefit generously from the affair, which was held in place of the customary January bridge-tea for the same purpose.

As usual, the arrangements were faultlessly carried out. The entertainment part of the programme, held in the ballroom, was under the joint convenership of Mrs. F. G. Aldous, who had charge of the musical details, and Mrs. James Adam, who was responsible for the dramatic section that followed. About 150 remained for tea, which was served in the palmroom.

SPECIALLY WELCOMED

The programme began immediately on the arrival of Mrs. Hamber, who, accompanied by Mrs. Rice, was received by the club president, Mrs. H. L. Campbell, Mrs. James Adam, Mrs. S. F. Willis and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, and conducted to her seat in the front of the hall.

In a charmingly-worded speech, Mrs. Campbell extended greetings to members and their friends, expressing particular pleasure in the presence of the honorary president, Mrs. Hamber. She also announced that she had had a message from the honorary vice-president, Mrs. T. D. Pattullo, expressing regret at her inability to be present, but conveying all good wishes to the club.

THE PROGRAMME

The programme that followed was received with delighted appreciation, although applause was forestalled by the announcement that no encores would be permitted. The numbers were as follows:

Vocal solos, Mrs. Archie Wills, "Sunlight Waltz Song," by Ware, and Mozart's "Silently Blending"; 'cello solos, Mary Bucklin Hammond, "Elegie" (Faure) and Popper's "Mazurka"; vocal solos, Mrs. H. L. Campbell, "Non e Ver" (Tito Mattei) and "But Why?" (Frederick Knight Logan); pianoforte solos, Maquinna Daniels, "Rhapsodie" (Dohnanyi) and "The Two Donkeys" (Grovlez); contralto solos, Mrs. F. G. Aldous, "The Last Hour" (Kramer) and "None But the Lonely Heart" (Tschaikowsky), the 'cello obbligato played by Mary Bucklin Hammond; vocal solos, Mrs. T. Harry Johns, "Serenade" (Schubert) and "I Love Life" (Mona Zucca). The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Charles Conyers and Mrs. C. C. Warn.

Very charming, too, was the scene from "Quality Street," which constituted the second part of the programme, the actors being Betty Hetherington, Audrey Wood and Fraser Lister, members of the Little Theatre Association.

REMAIN FOR TEA

The palmroom was most attractively arranged for the big tea gathering, the long buffet, covered with a pale green damask cloth, being decorated with bowls of yellow Talisman roses and gold chrysanthemums, and lighted by old ivory candles. Palms and potted plants, including some beautiful specimens of the South African "Billbergia," added to the attractive appearance of the room.

Among the guests of honor seated at a special table were Mrs. E. W. Hamber, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. F. M. MacPherson, Mrs. G. M. Weir, Mrs. K. C. MacDonald, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. G. S. Pearson, Mrs. W. J. Asselstine, Mrs. Norman W. Whittaker, Mrs. G. S. Wismer, Mrs. A. Watson, Mrs. C. B. McAllister (Vancouver), Mr. Donald Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Lister, the assisting artists, Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Mayhew.

Presiding at the tea table were the following past-presidents of the club: Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. H. P. Hodges, Mrs. J. C. F. Hyndman, Miss Kathleen Agnew and Mrs. P. B. Scurrah. Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. W. C. Fyfe and Mrs. P. E. Taylor were responsible for the tea arrangements, and assisting as servers were Mrs. T. A. Johnston, Mrs. Donald McAdie, Mrs. Munro, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. Charles Conyers, Mrs. Archie Wills, Mrs. F. G. Aldous and Mrs. James Adam. Mrs. T. H. Johns was responsible for the setting of the platform for the play.

Intermediate Musical Arts Have Meeting

The Intermediate Musical Arts Society will send a representative, Edith Drake, to the first of the community concert series to take place at the Empress Hotel next Monday. This has been made possible through the presentation by Miss K. Agnew of a student membership to the intermediates, and at the January meeting of the group, held on Saturday evening in the Victoria Truth Centre, appreciation of the gift was expressed.

Mendelssohn provided the subject matter for the entire first part of Saturday night's enjoyable programme. Julia Kent Jones opened the proceedings by giving a talk on the life and work of Mendelssohn, after which the following musical numbers were given: "Hunting Song," Griffith Cameron; Mendelssohn Trio, "On Wings of Song," Nancy Kyle, Rae Miller and Betty Mulliner; two Victrola records: (a) Overture of "Midsummer Night's Dream," (b) Mendelssohn Concerto in E Minor. The second part of the programme comprised pianoforte solos by Betty Mulliner, K. Macdonald, Olive French, Barry Harper and Irene Godfrey; vocal solo by Elaine Basanta, accompanied by Betty Hemmingsen; instrumental trio and vocal solo, Margery Browne.

It was announced that a social evening would be held on January 29 at the home of Mrs. T. W. A. Gray, Rockland Avenue, for all those members who had taken part in the Autumn monthly programmes of the Intermediate Musical Arts. The High School orchestra will supply part of the next monthly programme.

Beautiful Appointments for the Bridal Table

By LILIAN CAMPBELL

AFTER the solemnity of the church service, the bride gets a delightfully different thrill over the beautifully appointed table set for her wedding breakfast or dinner.

Sterling silver, exquisite linen, crystal, candles and flowers are used, and in the setting shown the bridal cake is the centrepiece. When the first courses have been served, the bride will cut that impressive confection with her own charming hands, and hand it to her friends.

The wedding breakfast may be a very simple meal or an elaborate one. It may start with fruit cup or cocktails, or hors d'oeuvres, and finish with elaborate parfaits and cake. Or it may be a buffet meal of cold cuts, creamed potatoes or potato chips, or dainty sandwiches of various kinds, olives and other pickles, and end with the inevitable ice cream and bride's cake. Creamed chicken in pastry shells is another favorite, and chicken salad still another.

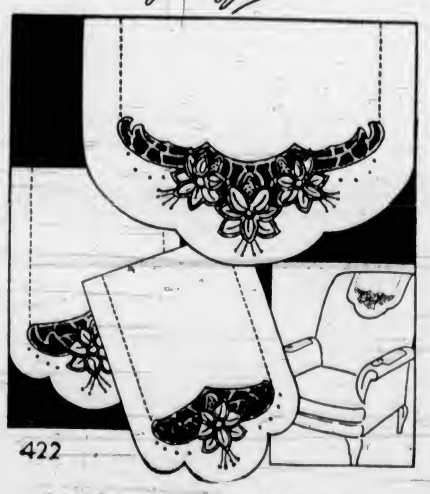

The cake is the piece de resistance, and usually is ordered from the caterer, as it is the very unusual housewife who can manage the elaborate decorations that seem to be called for. However, there is no law against mother or the cook making the cake and doing their best with the decorations. Pastry bags and fruit colorings aid in this important matter. Tiny brides and grooms, flowers and tulle, and various other trimmings can be obtained at the shops to add to the home-made embellishments. An ordinary gold cake or white cake recipe is best to use for the bride's cake. I will give a couple of recipes, using evaporated milk, but sweet fresh milk may be substituted if you prefer.

White Cake—Two-thirds cup butter, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon almond extract, two and one-half cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup evaporated milk, two-thirds cup water, three egg whites, one cup chopped nut meats (optional). Cream butter and sugar together. Add vanilla and almond extract. Sift flour once. Measure. Add baking powder and salt and sift again. Add nut meats. Add dry ingredients alternately with evaporated milk which has been blended with water. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in loaf or layer-cake pans, as directed for plain cake.

Gold Cake—Two-thirds cup butter, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, three egg yolks, one teaspoon vanilla, two and one-half cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup evaporated milk, two-thirds cup water, three egg whites, one cup chopped nut meats (optional). Cream butter and sugar together. Add vanilla and almond extract. Sift flour once. Measure. Add baking powder and salt and sift again. Add nut meats. Add dry ingredients alternately with evaporated milk which has been blended with water. For layer cake, turn into two well-buttered layer cake pans and bake twenty-five minutes in hot oven (400 degrees F.). For loaf cake, turn into well-buttered loaf cake pan and bake about forty minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Makes two medium-sized layers or one loaf of cake.

FAIRFIELD GO-GETTERS

Margaret Campbell presided over Monday night's meeting of the Fairfield Go-Getters, with Rev. Norman Crees opening the devotional period with a prayer. Lorna Benson read the secretary's report, while the treasurer's report was read by Wilfred Cartwright. Dorothy Warren, press reporter, gave an account of the meeting of the newly-formed programme committee of the local Young People's United Church Council, which was held Sunday afternoon at James Bay United Church. The young people decided to use the Fairfield gymnasium for roller skating. This privilege is for members of the club only, and any other organization of the church wishing to use the floor in a like manner must get permission from the Young People's Society. At the close of the business session, Douglas Bonner led the group in games, Dorothy Warren winning the crack-whistling contest and Tom McKeachie's group the duster hockey competition. Next week's programme will be as follows: Bill Van Druten's group, devotional period; Douglas Bonner, feature item; Gordon Rennie, games.

FIRST UNITED

Mr. W. T. Straith, M.P.P., was the speaker at the weekly meeting of First United Y.P.S., held on Monday evening. Mr. Straith spoke on some of his experiences on his recent trip to the Orient, dealing mostly with his contact with the Christian Missions in China and Japan. The programme, conducted by Group Four, under Kenneth MacDonald, was opened with a short business period, followed by a devotional period led by Miss Margaret Walker, assisted by Miss Iona McDiarmid. Following Mr. Straith's address, games were played and the evening brought to a close with the serving of refreshments. Next Monday evening Group One will present a citizenship programme.

Girl Guide Notes

ESQUIMALT COMMITTEE

At the January meeting of the Esquimalt committee of the Victoria North Association of Girl Guides, held in St. Paul's Parish Hall, Mrs. V. J. Pritchard, recently appointed commissioner for the district, was welcomed and she spoke of the work of the association. Mrs. Pritchard asked the members to patronize the fancy dress party to be given by the Brownies of the Victoria West district on January 29, to raise funds for the camp site. Miss O. Lownds, captain of the Esquimalt Guide Company, and Mrs. R. P. Matheson, Brown Owl, reported the activities of Guides and Brownies. All had attended the Remembrance Day service at the Esquimalt War Memorial. Good turns had been done at Christmas and a hamper sent to a needy family, the money raised by making and selling rainbow logs. The Brownies dressed a doll for the Children's Aid Home. Mrs. H. A. Allan served. Mrs. G. P. Clarke presided at the meeting.

COWICHAN

DUNCAN, Jan. 11.—The Cowichan Guide committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Smithe. Mrs. W. S. Gwyn took the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. G. A. Jobling. As this was the first meeting since the committee was elected at the annual meeting, officers were elected, last year's officers carrying on in most cases. Those chosen were: President, Mrs. G. A. Jobling; first vice-president, Mrs. W. S. Gwyn; second vice-president, Mrs. W. R. Smithe; secretary, Mrs. F. G. Aldersey; treasurer, Mrs. H. Lovell; chairman of finance committee, Mrs. D. Sherman. It was decided to start collecting articles for a hope chest, with which to raise funds to carry on the Guide work.

University Women Fix Programme

The University Women's Club will hold its first meeting of 1938 this evening, at the home of the president, Dr. Olga Jardine, Despard Avenue, when the programme will consist of a report by Dr. Jardine of the last triennial conference of university women and a talk by Dr. Henrietta Anderson on "The Browning Cult." There will also be a few musical items.

There will be four other meetings before the Summer. The February meeting will take the form of a dinner gathering at Spencer's dining-room, when Miss Helen Kirkwood, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., will address the members, and a musical programme will be given by Mrs. T. H. Johns, soprano, and Mary Bucklin Hammond, 'cellist. The March meeting (March 16) will be at the home of Mrs. W. A. Jameson, Foul Bay Road, when Mrs. Ross Napier will give a book review, and Mrs. C. S. Beals will give a group on the piano. The April meeting speaker will be Lieutenant-Colonel F. O. St. John, F.R.G.S., whose subject will be "The Tibet Road." The last gathering will be the annual meeting in May, at the Y.W.C.A.

Winner of Local Play Announced

Five original plays, by members of the Victoria Little Theatre Association, were submitted for competition in the contest held by the Little Theatre. It was announced last night at the monthly meeting of the association that Miss Audrey Wood had won the prize, her play being "Personality Street." Highest marks went to Mr. H. J. Reynolds' play, "The Judged," but as he did not wish to compete, the award went to Miss Wood, whose play received the next highest marks. Major L. Bullock-Webster was the adjudicator of the written plays.

These plays will be presented at the monthly meetings during the next two months. "The Judged" will be offered next month, along with another one-act play, and in March Miss Wood's play will be given at the monthly meeting.

The programme, which followed the business meeting, was most entertaining. Vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Florence Gunn and Mrs. Helen Tait, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warn, and during the intermissions selections were played by the V.L.T. orchestra.

Two humorous plays were presented under the direction of Miss Audrey Wood. The first was a Chinese pantomime, in which the roles were taken by Mrs. G. A. McCurdy, Miss Maryan Peterson, Mr. Harold Gelling, Mr. Donald Corbett and Mr. Lloyd Cann. The second play was an Irish comedy, in which Mrs. T. D. Bain, Mr. Don Corbett and Mr. Lloyd Cann took part. Both presentations were well directed, and the audience readily responded to the humor in the plays.

Anglican Young People

ST. JOHN'S

An important programme of business was carried out by St. John's A.Y.P.A. on Monday evening, the meeting opening with prayers led by Rev. G. R. V. Bolster. The president, Stanley Laver, introduced the main business of plans for the annual banquet and dance, arranged for January 21. The dance will be held at the Crystal Garden, with a popular four-piece orchestra in attendance. Mr. A. Oldfield is in charge. The banquet will this year be held at the Dominion Hotel, those requesting reservations are asked to get in touch with the president by January 19. A detailed report of the last local council meeting was presented by Miss Thora Harrison. Miss Florence Malcolm was appointed A.Y.P.A. monthly convener. As the result of the unavoidable resignation of Ken Hall as treasurer, Arthur Oldfield was elected to fill the vacancy. Notice of the next meeting will be given later.

ST. PAUL'S

The weekly meeting of St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. will be held this evening in the Parish Hall. All members are urged to be present, and visitors and prospective members will be heartily welcome.

DEPENDS

Tommy: "Is it really lucky to have a black cat follow you?"

Mr. Smith: "Well, it all depends whether you are a man or a mouse."

Jacket or Windbreaker

For Extra Warmth — Fits Easily Under Winter Coat

Small daughter will cherish this cosy wool windbreaker, and wear it cold days under her coat. She'll love the way it zips right up to the snug mandarin collar—gets her in and out of it in a jiffy. It has two smartly placed pockets and sleeves that hug the wrists. Quite a large plaid in warm fleece is also fetching for it. Older sister will probably like the buttoned-down-the-front jacket with deep patch pockets and shirt collar, in natural cashmere woolen. These jackets are so inexpensive and easy to sew. Pattern includes both models.

Style No. 3327 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires one yard of 54-inch material with one yard of 39-inch lining for the windbreaker; and one and one-eighth yards of 54-inch material with one and one-eighth yards of 39-inch lining for jacket.

The Winter Fashion Book is filled with lovely designs for everyday wear, which are easy and inexpensive to make.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER GETS EIGHT MONTHS

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 11 (AP).—Upon her plea of guilty, Mrs. Viola Miller, twenty-eight-year-old matron, was sentenced in Superior Court today to eight months in jail for the hit-and-run death of Alfred Tuft, Spokane barber.

Mrs. Miller entered her plea yesterday, after arrest in the ten-month-old death mystery.

It was during the empanelling of a jury that the following colloquy occurred:

"You are a property holder?"

"Yes, Your Honor."

Married or single?"

"I have been married for five years Your Honor."

"Have you formed or expressed an opinion?"

"Not for five years, Your Honor."

Water Question To Be Discussed

STARTING COURSES IN GAS-MASK TRAINING

CALGARY, Jan. 11 (CP).—Courses in gas mask training will be started here soon by the Calgary unit of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, O. E. McArthur, superintendent of the unit, announced today. A supply of gas masks has been ordered from the East.

Similar courses, he said, would be started in Winnipeg this week.

WILL SPONSOR ANNUAL DRIVE

Junior Chamber of Commerce Will Promote Paint-Up Week Here

Paint-Up, Clean-Up Week will again be held this year under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was decided at a meeting of that body Monday evening.

Several constructive suggestions were offered by the members, and a committee will be formed to deal with them.

It is also planned to institute a series of twelve radio programmes, to be sponsored by the Junior Chamber, subject to the approval of the finance committee. Each programme will probably be of one hour's duration, one-half hour of which will be presented on the air from the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, Joe McAllister reported. A meeting to discuss entertainment for the programme will be held Wednesday evening under the chairmanship of T. Sturgess.

It was decided not to have any special celebrations on May 24. The reasons given were that it was not the most suitable time of the year, and also that the City of Nanaimo holds a celebration on that date. A later date will be chosen by the committee, consisting of W. Martin, J. McAllister, H. Short, N. Goodwin, T. Sturgess, C. Powell, J. Hartree and W. Hughes.

A letter of condolence was ordered sent to the family of the late James Parfitt. A message will be sent to R. W. Mayhew, M.P.-elect, wishing him a speedy recovery from his present illness.

E. H. Harris spoke of the home militia defence, the enlistment of young men in which is being advocated by the senior body.

BEING TACTFUL

Charles M. Schwab, the American millionaire, was very fond of farce, and one day he asked his secretary to get him two tickets for "Charlie's Aunt."

The secretary called a messenger and said: "Go round to the theatre and get two tickets for 'Charlie's Aunt.'"

The messenger hesitated, then said: "Hadn't I better say for Mr. Schwab's aunt, sir?"

'MAN-PROOF' HAS IMPOSING CAST

Myrna Loy, Franchot Tone, Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon Featured

In today's mad race of modernity, the marital "triangle" has been pushed into limbo and in its place rises the matrimonial "rectangle" in the fast stepping comedy-drama, "Man-Proof," opening today at the Capitol Theatre.

With Myrna Loy, forming the quartette of principals, are Franchot Tone, Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon.

Miss Loy is a young artist disillusioned in love. Miss Russell is a wealthy socialite. Franchot Tone is a newspaper cartoonist and Walter Pidgeon is a social climber.

Admirable performances are given by the principals and by such supporting players as Rita Johnson, Nana Bryant, Ruth Hussey, Leonard Penn and John Miljan.

"ANGEL" SHOWS TODAY AT ATLAS

Marlene Dietrich Has Principal Role With Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas

When a husband is too occupied with outside interests to give any time to his home, has his wife the right to look elsewhere for romance?

That is the problem treated by the Marlene Dietrich picture, "Angel," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre and shows for two days only.—"Angel" was directed by Ernst Lubitsch and features Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas in top male roles.

In addition to the three principals the cast of "Angel" includes Edward Everett Horton, Ernest Cossart, Laura Hope Crews, Herbert Mundin and Ivan Lebedeff.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Atlas—Marlene Dietrich in "Angel."

Capitol—"Man-Proof," starring Myrna Loy.

Columbia—William Powell in "After the Thin Man."

Dominion—"Great Guy," starring James Cagney.

Oak Bay—Claudette Colbert in "Imitation of Life."

Plaza—"Stella Dallas," starring Barbara Stanwyck.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has spared nothing to make "After the Thin Man," which closes today at the Columbia Theatre, the funniest, snappiest, most exciting comedy-mystery-melodrama ever screened. It is aimed at only one thing, sheer unadulterated audience entertainment.

DOMINION THEATRE Among those prominent in the cast of "Great Guy," now at the Dominion Theatre, which was adapted from the Johnny Cave Stories" by James Edward Grant, are Edward McNamara and Joseph Sawyer. John G. Blystone directed the picture with a nice sense of balance for his comedy and melodrama.

OAK BAY THEATRE Though he is often mistaken for an Englishman, Warren William is in reality a product of the American Middle-West, since he was born in Aitkin, Minnesota. William appears for the last times today on the screen of the Oak Bay Theatre in "Imitation of Life," starring Claudette Colbert.

PLAZA THEATRE The unusual experiment of using three little girls in the same role was tried by Director King Vidor for scenes in the Samuel Goldwyn production, "Stella Dallas," now showing at the Plaza Theatre.

BRITISH PICTURE AT DOMINION ON FRIDAY

Something totally different in entertainment, "Farewell Again," British film which will start on Friday at the Dominion Theatre, is a delightful contrast to the usual type of motion picture.

It is packed full of human interest, telling at once the varied stories of several peoples and their complicated affairs.

The scene is laid almost entirely aboard a troop ship England-bound from Gibraltar, carrying British soldiers back from a five-year sojourn in India.

There's every attribute to a good picture—romance, drama, thrills and comedy aplenty.

PAY TRIBUTE TO NANAIMO MAYOR

Aldermen Express Regret at Decision of Mayor Barsby to Retire From Office

NANAIMO, Jan. 11.—Mayor Barsby presided for the last time after eight years continuous service as mayor at the last meeting of the year of the city council. All aldermen expressed their regret that Mayor Barsby had decided to retire from the mayoralty and praised his work and fine record.

In replying the mayor said that he would probably meet them next year as a school trustee making demands for money.

Alderman Hindmarch was named council representative at a public meeting to be held on January 19 to discuss the advisability of increasing athletic conditions and making Nanaimo an athletic centre.

Nanaimo League for Peace and Democracy was granted permission to hold a tag on January 22 in aid of war sufferers in China.

The fire chief's report for December showed five alarms were answered, the total damage being $340.

Mayor Barsby, before the meeting adjourned, said the board's record in the past eight years was good, covering a hard period, paid their bonded indebtedness, took care of several services and kept our head above water.

MAROONS AND CANADIENS SET NEW SCORING RECORD

Varsity Athletic Invasion Will Be Revived This Year

University of British Columbia Athletes to Oppose Victoria Teams in Traditional Inter-City Competitions Here on January 22—Cagers to Play Dominoes in the Evening

Varsity Thunderbirds from the University of British Columbia are coming to Victoria to revive their traditional invasion of the British Columbia Capital. Four athletic squads and approximately 250 student supporters will be here Saturday, January 22, and will oppose Victoria athletes in inter-city competition. Rugby, swimming and basketball are scheduled on the one-day programme.

The tentative programme follows:

1:45—Rugby, Varsity vs. Victoria College, Macdonald Park.

2:45—Rugby, Varsity vs. Victoria, McKechnie Cup, Macdonald Park.

5:00—Swimming, Varsity vs. Y.M.C.A., Y.M.C.A. pool.

7:30—Basketball, Varsity vs. Victoria Dominoes, Victoria High School gymnasium.

Definite arrangements for Rugby and basketball have been made, but the proposed aquatic meet is still undecided. However, the Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club will make a decision in this matter tonight at a special meeting of the executive.

While all of the events will attract many followers, the cage battle between the Varsity Thunderbirds and the Victoria Dominoes, finalists in the 1936-37 British Columbia playdowns, promises to be the invasion highlight.

Victoria basketball fans will recall how the Thunderbirds took the Dominoes into camp in three straight games in the provincial play-offs and then went on to capture the Canadian hoop crown. The local hoopsters have not forgotten that setback and will be determined to gain revenge when the squads meet here.

McKECHNIE CUP RUGBY

Holding down second place in the McKechnie Cup "Big Three" race, Varsity ruggers will oppose Victoria's "Crimson Tide" at Macdonald Park in a regular cup match. In the first meeting of the two fifteens on the Mainland the University of British Columbia squad trounced Victoria, 23-3, when the "Crimson Tide" had the misfortune to lose Bill Brown, wing three-quarter, in the early stages of the game through injuries.

When the Thunderbirds take the field at Macdonald Park they will face a different Victoria fifteen, one that will be out to gain revenge for the earlier setback.

Varsity's second fifteen will oppose Victoria College, intermediate league squad, in an exhibition match that will act as a curtain raiser to the "Big Three" struggle.

Archie McKinnon, coach of the Y.M.C.A. aquatic performers, yesterday released the programme for the proposed inter-city gala as follows: Women, 100 yards breast stroke, 50 yards free style, 50 yards backstroke, 150 yards medley and 200 yards free style relay; men, 50 yards breast stroke, 50 yards free style, 100 yards free style, 150 yards medley relay, 200 yards free style relay and 100 yards backstroke.

Armstrong Will Tackle Venturi In East Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP).—Little Henry Armstrong, generally acclaimed 1937's outstanding ring performer, launches a new campaign tomorrow night in a ten-round fight with Enrico Venturi, one of the best of the lightweights, in Madison Square Garden.

The sensational Los Angeles negro, who topped off a streak of twenty-seven victories by winning the world's featherweight title from Petey Sarron, Birmingham, is a 5-to-9 shot to defeat the Italian, but no better than even money to put another notch in his knockout gun.

The fight will be broadcast over the NBC blue network from the ringside, beginning at 7:15, Pacific standard time. The blow-by-blow description will be given by Clem McCarthy, and Bill Stern will do the commentating before the bout and between rounds.

SOCCER TEAMS BATTLE TODAY

Wednesday League Elevens To Engage in Pendray Cup Games

Still smarting under the 5-0 setback they received at the hands of Spencers in the Hayward Cup chase, Navy footballers will be gunning for revenge this afternoon when they entertain the Diamond "S" boys on their home ground at Admirals Road. The game promises to be the feature attraction on the Wednesday Football League schedule as the squads continue their campaign in the Pendray Cup series. Dave McMillan will referee.

Hudson's Bays, present holders of the trophy, will clash with the Gorge Hotel eleven at the Royal Athletic Park. The teams are sharing top berth in the race for the silverware, and the winner of today's encounter will move out in front. Last week the Bays defeated the Navy, 1-0, and the hotelmen nosed out Spencers, 2-1. Percy Shrimpton will referee.

Kick-offs are set for 2:30 o'clock.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . . . By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR SATURDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Blind Boatbuilder—John B. Herreshoff (1841-1915) was engaged in the construction of his first boat, the Meteor, when he became completely blind at the age of 15 (1855). After a few months of despondency he took a new hold on life and completed the boat very successfully. He subsequently became a boat and yacht builder of great renown, and constructed the four American Cup defenders of 1892, 1895, 1899, 1901 and 1903. On one occasion a South American country commissioned Herreshoff with the very intricate construction of three torpedo boats. The blind boatbuilder made the elaborate cost calculations, on which he based his bid, within twenty minutes.

GORMAN'S SQUAD IN 11-7 ICE WIN OVER INTRA-CITY RIVALS

Eighteen Goals Driven Into Respective Nets During Wild Scoring Match at Montreal—Boston Bruins Whip Lowly Detroit Wings, 6-2—Americans and Hawks Play to Tie

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP).—Montreal Maroons took a frenzied intra-city game from the Canadiens, 11-7, here tonight, and established what veteran hockey men said was a National League scoring record.

It was believed the previous top mark for prolific scoring was set up by Maroons and New York Americans, when they played to an 8-8 tie at New York, February 18, 1936.

Maroons, giving the lie to the form which has kept them in last place all season, swept to a 7-2 lead in the first period, and the sides kept scoring to the accompaniment of many penalties as the game progressed. They were in front, 9-4, at the second interval.

Scoring points were spread all through the line-ups, and Gus Marker and Baldy Northcott, of the winners, and Johnny Gagnon and Toe Blake, of the Habitants, were the only men to tally twice. Northcott got three. Between them, the teams garnered 18 points.

The loss dropped Canadiens into third place in their section, a little closer to the trailing Maroons. Their defence looked weak, but both teams discarded defensive play soon after the start and went after goals.

The big Maroon team piled up a 3-0 lead quickly through Herbie Cain, Northcott and Allan Shields. Gagnon cut the lead to 3-1, and after Dave Trottier counted for Maroons, Dizzy Desilets, brought back from New Haven, of the International-American League, reduced it again to 4-2. After that there was no stopping the Maroon drive, and Wilf Cude looked helpless in goal as attacks sifted through repeatedly.

Canadiens didn't get going until the third, when they outscored their opponents, 3-2.

Summary

Officials—Mickey Ion and Johnny Mitchell.

BRUINS TRIM WINGS

BOSTON, Jan. 11 (CP).—Boston Bruins, with old Eddie Shore clearing the track, rolled to a 6-2 win tonight over the stumbling Detroit Red Wings and moved into a five-point lead in their National Hockey League group.

Before a 13,000 crowd, the victors scored twice in each period, but half of their counters were made while the Wings played short handed.

The Wings opened in threatening fashion and their aggressive tactics earned them a goal, supplied by Carl Liscombe, in combination with Alex Motter and Ronnie Hudson, during the fourth minute of play. They were able to hold that advantage for less than two minutes and Ray Getliffe pulled the Bruins even.

During the last ten seconds of first period play, Eddie Shore placed his teammates in the lead, which they held until the final bell.

Summary

Officials—Smith and Babe Dye.

First Period—1, Detroit, Liscombe (Motter, Hudson), 3:13; 2, Boston, Getliffe (Cowley-Shore), 5:00; 3, Boston, Shore, 19:50. Penalty: Dorsty.

GAINS SECOND PLACE

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (CP).—New York Americans edged their way into sole possession of sectional second place in the National Hockey League tonight by duelling to a 1-1 overtime tie with Chicago Black Hawks.

Only 9,000 fans turned out to do honor to Ching Johnson, Amerks' veteran defenceman, who was presented a gold watch by Ford Frick, president of the National Baseball League. The event marked the twelfth session of big-time hockey for the bald Winnipeg bumper.

One of the most listless contests seen here this Winter, the game was marked by injuries, one of which may prove serious. Checked heavily in the second period, Joe Jerwa, rangy New York defenceman, suffered a possible ruptured left kidney. Dr. Vincent Nardiello said X-ray pictures were taken but results would not be known until tomorrow.

Harold Jackson, young Hawk defenceman, recently brought up from St. Louis Fliers, retired from the game late in the first period, and hospital authorities reported he suffered a possible broken arm.

Summary

Officials—Clarence Campbell and Bert McCaffrey.

Second Period—2, Chicago, Gottselig (Trudel, Jenkins), 3:34. Penalty: Anderson.

SOCCER TEAM MAY JOURNEY

Representative Eleven Expected to Tour From the Old Country

LONDON, Jan. 11 (CP).—Announcement was made today the English Football Association was prepared to send a representative team to Canada and the United States this year on terms to be agreed upon.

The association's international selection committee stated that after considering a communication from the Dominion Football Association it had been decided to rescind a previous decision in regard to the tour.

Canada last saw an English Football Association team in action in 1926, when a strong squad was unbeaten on its trip across the country. Since that time Scotland and Wales have sent representative elevens.

Kilmarnock and Glasgow Rangers played in the Dominion in 1928, Preston North End in 1929, and Charlton Athletic, prominent London team, last year.

"He Rocks Himself to Sleep Every Night"

Jane Dixon Says:

A WOMAN OF TWENTY, WHO MARRIED A MAN TWICE HER AGE, IS BEGINNING TO REALIZE SHE MADE A MISTAKE, AND, OF COURSE, SHE'S UNHAPPY

Persons who are not willing to make a fair compromise should stay away from the marriage altar.

When a man and a woman take up a life together, the happy solution of their problem is neither all me nor all thee. It is a compromise between thee and me, and the sum of it equals "us."

Jane Dixon: A year ago, on my twenty-third birthday, I married a man twenty years my senior. He has two children, a boy and a girl, both in High School. I knew he was set in his ways, but I was in love with him and thought I could win him over to my way after a while.

Now I know what a mistake I made. He is more set than ever, and no matter how much I coax or threaten or cry, he will not budge. Everything has to be the way he wants it. He is the same way with his children, and he treats me as if I were one of them. It's gotten on my nerves so I have to run upstairs and shut myself in the room to keep from having hysterics and screaming at him.

The worst trouble is over our friends. Being so much younger I went with a crowd my own age, entirely different from his friends. Most of them he didn't even know, except by sight.

He treated them very nicely while we were going together and when we were engaged, but as soon as we were married he turned on them and treated them so coldly when they came to our house that they've stopped coming, even when he's away at work. He insists that I accept invitations from and entertain the friends he and his first wife went with during her lifetime—the parents of the boys and girls in my crowd.

These friends of his don't dance; they don't go to games—all they do is play cards or sit and talk. You can imagine what a kick I get out of such parties. I'd rather sit home and listen to the radio. There's some life in that, even if it is only canned.

My husband is very generous, buys me lovely things, and lets me have charge accounts in the best stores—but what good does it do me when I have to sit around with a lot of old fogeys? I still love him, but not as much as I did. I find myself wishing I was single again and free to join my young friends in their kind of fun. Will he ever change?—"Young Wife."

Comment: You both had better change unless you are willing to see your marriage go on the rocks. He knew you were young and lively. You knew he was middle-aged and set. Be good enough sports not to cry about your bargain after it is made. Get together and agree on a compromise. Be friendly and hospitable with both crowds. Try to persuade him to be young with your crowd this time and see to it that you take an interest in his friends the next time. If you love one another each will forget self long enough to strive for the other's happiness. This is a case in which turn about is fair play—so park your personal preferences and play it that way.

MYSTERY TRIP IS HELD BY SOCIETY

Royal Arcanum Members Enjoy Visit to Canadian Bakeries Plant

The first regular meeting of the year was held by members of Majestic Council, Royal Arcanum, at the Elks Hall, Douglas Street, Monday night. At the close of the meeting, Bro. Murgatroyd, orator of the council, announced a special educational mystery trip and marshaled the members in their cars, leading the way to the premises of the Canadian Bakeries, Ltd., Prior Street.

Here, a very interesting and educational hour was spent when the visitors were shown what happened to the flour and various other ingredients that go to make up our daily bread. The working of the huge mixing and kneading machines and the vast ovens, with a capacity of 400 loaves, were explained, together with a practical demonstration as the bakers proceeded with their regular work. The success and interest shown in this "mystery trip" was so great, that others of a similar nature will be arranged in the near future.

At the meeting prior to the trip, another special "open night" for men was planned for Monday, January 24, when friends of the members will be invited to participate in another Royal Arcanum gathering.

Teacher: "Betty, construct a sentence using the word archaic."

Betty: "We can't have archaic and eat it too."

TWO MATCHES SET SATURDAY

Soccer Schedule for First Half to Close This Week —Continue Cup Play

First half schedule in the senior division of the Victoria and District Football League will close on Saturday with two more matches carded. Esquimalt, the team which is rapidly improving and expected to make a strong bid for the second half honors, will face Victoria West at the Athletic Park with "Scotty" Dowds as referee, while Garrison and Saanich Thistles will meet at Heywood Avenue with Tom Robb in charge. Both games will start at 2:30. The following week the semi-final of the Freddy Price Cup will be played with Victoria City meeting the Garrison at the enclosure.

Officials of the league, at their meeting last night in The Colonist board room, stated that they would inform the Victoria Football Commission that the winners of the Anscomb Cup will be decided by the playing of one or more matches. It was announced this week that the Wednesday League had been awarded the trophy by the commission, but this ruling is going against a previous agreement between the two leagues that the series would be two out of three.

This means that a third match will be held and if the Saturday eleven wins out a fourth tussle will be necessary to decide the silverware, as the midweek boys already have a victory and a draw to their credit.

TRIO OF CAGE GAMES LISTED

Local Basketball Quintettes Will Meet This Evening at High School Gym

Future cage stars will be seen in action this evening at the Victoria High School Gymnasium when four of the six intermediate "A" boys' quintettes clash in important league encounters. Chinese Students, in need of a victory to gain a post-season play-off berth, will be out at full strength for their clash with the Ramblers, Dominoes' farm club, and the fixture should be keenly contested. They meet in the curtain-raiser at 7:15 o'clock.

Canadian Scottish, top club in the division, and St. Louis College Alumni will meet in the second attraction. The leaders have a slim two-point lead over Kingham-Gillespie and in order to retain their coveted position must take the Alumni in tonight's contest. Defeated in their last two starts, the ex-students will be out to try and regain some of their lost prestige at the expense of the Scottish.

Gainers and Adverts, women's quintettes, have been given the nightcap berth.

Big Leagues Will Start In On April 18

OPEN BREAK OVER STYMIE

U.S. and Royal and Ancient Bodies Disagree Over Latest Ruling

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP).—You can look for an open break between the world's two great golf-governing bodies—the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews—if the American rulers persist in tinkering with the stymie rule.

There's no "give" to the Royal and Ancient about the stymie. The old Scottish stronghold of the game regards it as an elemental feature of golf, and it will never budge.

Knowing full when how the "old lady" of golf feels, the American body has, nevertheless, ruled that for the next year its players may lift the "inside" ball on the green if it is within six inches of the cup. Furthermore, the Royanl and Ancient wasn't even asked for its approval.

"We are saving our comment for the United States Golf Association when and if they ask for it," Henry Gullen, secretary of the R. and A., told the Associated Press. British opinion is almost unanimous.

WHEN THE DENTIST HELPS THE PHYSICIAN IN REMOVING INFECTION

The day has fortunately gone by when a physician after viewing the X-ray films will send the patient to the dentist to have certain teeth removed. Sometimes the physician, in looking for the cause of rheumatism, heart disease, or stomach ulcer, had the teeth X-rayed first, and if there was any root abscess present he considered that the cause of the ailment, and had the tooth or teeth extracted. The dentist, believing that the physician had made a thorough examination of the entire body and finding the teeth to be the only cause, was willing to remove the tooth or teeth.

Fortunately physicians now make a thorough examination for infection everywhere, including the teeth, and are in a better position to give advice regarding the teeth.

Fortunately also the dentist does not calmly remove teeth without being assured by the physician that all other sources of infection have been investigated. And even when all other sources have been investigated the dentist does not agree to the removal of the teeth unless he feels absolutely certain that the suspected teeth could be sending infection into the blood. There are no teeth like your own teeth and your dentist naturally wants to preserve them for you.

Personally I am a great believer in the removal of infected teeth. I have had three attacks of sciatica spread over a period of twenty years. The pain in all three attacks disappeared within forty-eight hours after removal of two teeth the first attack, the tonsils for the second attack, and two more teeth for the third attack. And every physician has patients where the removal of infected teeth has brought prompt and startling results.

Fortunately the dentist of today, with his knowledge of the body, and of dental infection, is equipped to discuss the probable effect of this dental infection in causing general symptoms and trouble in different parts of the body.

Dr. W. A. W. Whitelaw, Vancouver, B.C., in an address before the Vancouver Dental Society stated: "The more important and common types of diseases and conditions concerning the physician in which the dentist is called upon in removing can be classified under the following headings: (1) eye conditions; (2) diseases of the nervous system; (3) diseases of the heart; (4) diseases of the stomach and intestines; (5) joint conditions; (6) kidney and bladder infections."

HOSTAK STOPS JACK HIBBARD

Seattle Fighter Wastes Little Time With Opponent —Williams Loses

SEATTLE, Jan. 11 (AP).—Al "Hostile" Hostak, savage-slugging Seattle middleweight, knocked out Jack Hibbard, of Klamath Falls, Ore., in 2:29 of the first round in a scheduled ten-round main event tonight.

Hostak weighed 158 1-4; Hibbard 162 1-4.

Two British Columbians suffered defeats, one by a decisive knockout, in preliminary bouts.

Charlie Williams, of Victoria, lost a decision to Billy Barnett, Seattle negro, in the opening bout of the card, after being knocked down three times in the four-round bout. Williams weighed 153 3-4 and Barnett 151.

Joe Kaiser, 138, Vancouver, suffered a first-round knockout at the hands of Glenn Strong, 141, Tacoma, in the other bout. The Tacoma battler caught Kaiser with a right to the jaw which sent the British Columbian to the canvas in the first minute of the scheduled four-round event.

MARINE—TRANSPORTATION

DUE IN FROM ORIENT SIDE

Canada Docking This Morning With Passengers, Mails and Cargo

Arriving from the Philippine Islands by way of China, Japan and Hawaii ports, the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Canada, Captain W. T. Kinley, R.N.R., commander, will dock at Rithet Piers about 9 o'clock this morning. The big white liner is bringing in 529 passengers in all classes, many of whom will leave the ship here. Among 125 travelers boarding the Canada at Honolulu were members of the University of Washington Huskies football team, returning home following a series of games played with the University of Hawaii.

FLOATING TANKER

Completing her underwater cleaning and painting at the Government Drydock, Esquimalt, the Imperial Oil Company's tanker Ontariolite will shift alongside the Lang Cove plant of Yarrows Limited for engine-room attention and other necessary repairs.

LOADING SPELTER

The Japanese freighter Ss. Yoshu Maru is at New Westminster today loading 700 tons of spelter and 600 tons of salt fish for Kobe. The ship had an extra beam lashed to one of her winch spars to enable the vessel to handle ten-ton loads, which were in cases containing "machinery."

DEMAND FOR METAL

Japanese vessels are carrying considerable metal from this coast. Several old mines are opening up, as a result, to assist in supplying the demands. It is expected that about 1,000 tons will leave British Columbia ports each month from now on. The Hiye Maru will take some on her next sailing, while on January 6 the Granby Company shipped 1,000 tons of 16 copper concentrates to Japan. Since the plant at Copper Mountain reopened, it is understood the company has sent 14,000 tons of the concentrated metal across the Pacific. It is also rumored that Japanese interests are at present surveying the possibilities of a base metal property on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, as well as one on Porcher Island, the products of which will supply freight for Japanese ships, in addition to providing material for industrial and other purposes.

AUTHORIZED BY SHIP'S DOCTOR

Chief Steward Instructed to Distribute Few "Shots" To Hoover's Crew

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11 (AP).—Louis Magion, chief steward, testified at a marine board inquiry today that he had authorization from the ship's doctor to distribute a few "shots" of liquor after the liner President Hoover went aground off Hokshoto Island last December 10.

Magion, whose home is in Long Beach, said drinking was "about fifty-fifty among the passengers and crew" of the liner.

"Just as many passengers had drinks as the crew, but there was nothing rough or disorderly," Magion stated.

Concerning the complaint blankets were taken away from some of the passengers on the island, Magion declared many of the passengers had three or four blankets, while some had none. He said he merely asked those with three or four blankets to divide them with those without covers.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are advised that the light on Merry Island will show fixed white instead of flashing for a few days pending repairs.

A. W. R. WILBY,
Agent, Dept. of Transport.

Mariners are advised that the buoy marking Gossip Reef, Strait of Georgia, is reported adrift. This will be attended to as soon as possible.

Railway Stations in Festive Robes

A photograph of the unusual Yuletide decorations at St. Pancras Station, London, guaranteed, apparently, to send the traveler on his way rejoicing. The ticket office of the station is covered with a false front resembling an old house, while Santa Claus, on the roof, opens his bags in order to drop presents down the chimney.

MAY PROLONG SETTLEMENT

United States Firm Refuses To Negotiate With Lunenburg Fishermen

LUNENBURG, N.S., Jan. 11 (CP).—Refusal of a United States firm to negotiate with the Fishermen's Federation threatened today to prolong settlement of the fourteen-day waterfront strike for higher catch prices.

"Unless we get the three vessels fishing for General Sea Foods placed, we cannot leave port," a union meeting was told today by President Angus Walters, skipper of the famed schooner Bluenose.

Discussing proposed one-quarter cent increases by three companies, the meeting heard Captain Walter's declaration that "we have no wish to cripple any industry. We asked for a very small increase. It may not seem enough, but it is the best that we could get and it is an increase."

Representatives of General Sea Foods failed to attend a meeting last night between union officials and the dealers.

PROPOSAL OFFERED

Negotiations carried on as hundreds of fishermen picketed the waterfront yesterday resulted in a proposal by Lunenburg Sea Products Ltd. that captains previously fishing for the firm be given 15 cents a pound for halibut, 2 3-4 cents for haddock and 2 cents for prime cod. Union men said the company previously had paid 2 1-2 cents for haddock, 1 3-4 for steak cod and 1 1-2 for market cod.

Telegrams from the National Fish Company and the Lockeport Cold Storage Company expressed general agreement with the proposal of the Lunenburg firm and captains said complete agreement had almost been attained.

HALIFAX, Jan. 11 (CP).—Workers quartered in the National Fish Company plant, where members of the Fish Handlers and Cutters' Union struck Saturday, have provisions to last nine days, a union picket declared today.

"If they stay there nine days, we'll stay ten," the picket added as the strikers continued their holdout on streets near the plant and docks. Bedding, mattresses and provisions were taken into the plant Sunday for non-union employees on the job. Company heads claimed 100 were working—union men said seventy-four.

FOUR SHIFTS

Pickets have been organized into four shifts of thirty men; each group under a "captain" to promote "constant and orderly" picketing.

Summonses were served yesterday on officers of the company, alleging violation of the Nova Scotia Trades Union Act, and made it clear the charges were against the company and not against the individuals named as officials.

Started when the company dismissed seventy-nine union members, the strike has been orderly. The seventy-nine were reinstated yesterday, but the strike continued as union recognition was pushed as the main issue.

LUNENBURG, N.S., Jan. 11 (CP).—Union officials and veteran skippers of the fishing banks tonight discussed a proposed "share-the-work" plan, designed to end the fourteen-day waterfront strike for higher catch prices.

The plan arose when the striking members of the Fishermen's Federation, granted increases of one-quarter cent a pound, refused to sail without inclusion of three vessels of General Sea Foods, a United States firm which declined to negotiate with the union.

The plan calls for inclusion of the General Sea Foods' vessels in the fleet and drawing of lots to see which three vessels will be left behind.

CONFERENCE IS DIVIDED

Sub-Committees of Aviation Gathering Will Deal With Questions Separately

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP).—Delegates to the Canadian-American aviation conference today were divided into sub-committees to deal separately with the many technical problems facing the growing air traffic in the neighboring countries.

The sub-committees were named to deal separately with the following questions:

1.—1938 Canadian-United States aeronautical arrangements.

2.—Radio frequency allocation.

3.—Communications, weather and air-navigating facilities.

The Canadian delegation, headed by Colonel V. I. Smart, deputy minister of transport, expressed agreement with the tentative programme presented to them when the international sessions opened yesterday in the Department of Commerce Building. The conversations will continue most of the week and a joint communique will be issued each forenoon.

LINER BEHIND HER SCHEDULE

President McKinley Here From Orient by Way of San Francisco

Diverted to San Francisco with the crew of the stranded Dollar Line Ss. President Hoover, which went ashore off Formosa last month, the American Mail Line Ss. President McKinley, Captain Clyde F. Bryant, U.S.N.R., commander, was almost a week behind her regular schedule arriving here. Due a week ago today, the liner docked at 9 p.m. yesterday and continued to Seattle at 2 o'clock this morning.

The McKinley had no European or American passengers aboard for either Victoria or Seattle, the travelers embarking in the Orient having left the ship at San Francisco. Five steerage passengers landed here, and about 200 tons of general cargo were discharged locally.

Captain Bryant told newspapermen he had passed the wrecked liner Hoover at night and couldn't say anything about her position or what the prospects of refloating her were. He landed the big ship's passengers at Manila, and stated the McKinley experienced nothing but fine weather since leaving the Philippine port.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

Ms. Hiye Maru will arrive here Thursday from Everett, Wash., B. W. Greer & Son, Ltd., the ship's British Columbia agents reported today. The vessel will load 2,500 tons of concentrates here for Japan.

The Ss. Nanoose developed boiler trouble en route here from Victoria on Monday. The vessel, which was towing a barge of cars, was towed into port by the tugboat Kyuquot.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Mrs. Peter Admires Winsome's Coat

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

The first thing Peter Rabbit asked Winsome Bluebird after inquiring about his health was if Sweet Mistress Spring would soon arrive.

Of course, she will," replied Winsome. "You will never find me very far ahead of her. Of course, she can't travel quite as fast as I can, because she has to stop all along the way to waken all the sleepers. So I stay a little while in each place until she nearly catches up with me."

"Aren't you going to stay more than a little while here?" asked Peter, looking worried.

"All Summer," declared Winsome "from here on I'll let Honker the Goose be her herald. You know, he spends the Summer in the Far North, so he is just the one to take the news up there."

"I'm so glad," said Peter, with a little sigh of relief. "It wouldn't seem at all right not to have you with us all Summer."

All this time little Mrs. Peter hadn't said a word. She had been too busy admiring Winsome's beautiful coat. "It's perfectly lovely," she said at last.

"Of course, it's lovely," retorted Peter. "A Summer without Winsome here would be all wrong."

"I didn't mean that. Of course, that's lovely, too, but I meant Winsome's coat," said little Mrs. Peter.

"Aren't you going to stay more than a little while?" asked Peter

"I wish I had one like it," she added wistfully.

"Oh!" exclaimed Peter. Then he burst out laughing. "Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho, ho!" he roared. "I can just see you, Fuzzy, running around in a sky-blue coat! Perhaps you'd like a red cap like Drummer the Woodpecker's to go with it. Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho!"

Little Mrs. Peter looked hurt and Winsome saw it. He didn't laugh. "It is a beautiful coat," he said, spreading his wings so that Mrs. Peter could see just how beautiful it was, but there wasn't a particle of pride in the way he said it. You know, Winsome Bluebird isn't the least bit vain, although he has one of the loveliest coats of all the little feathered folks. He picked out a beautiful blue feather and dropped it at Mrs. Peter's feet, where she could see just how lovely it was.

"I guess I know how you feel," he continued. "It is nice to have beautiful clothes, but they are a great care. And—and—well, sometimes I wish I had just a little plain brown coat like yours, Mrs. Peter." There was just a little sadness in his voice.

"Oh, Winsome, how can you say that?" cried Mrs. Peter. "Why, I should think such a beautiful coat as yours would make you perfectly happy."

"I guess you've never stopped to think how hard it must be to keep from being seen," replied Winsome.

"But I should think you would want to be seen! I would if I had a coat like that," cried Mrs. Peter.

"When you were among friends you might, but when you wanted to keep out of sight of enemies, what then?" asked Winsome.

"I hadn't thought of that," said Mrs. Peter, looking very sober and thoughtful.

"But I have to think of it all the time," continued Winsome, and again there was just a wee bit of sadness in his voice. "I suppose I have this lovely coat because I am the herald of Mistress Spring, and heralds, you know, are almost always brightly dressed, so that they can be seen and thus give the message they bring, but enemies have just as good eyes as friends, and these days before there are any leaves, it is sometimes pretty hard work to hide from them. Do you know there are some places I came through on my way here where men hunted me with terrible guns just for the sake of my blue feathers. I lost some of my best feathers that way. It's a mercy that I got here at all."

"Do you mean to say that men tried to shoot you?" exclaimed Peter as if he couldn't believe what he had heard.

Winsome nodded. "But let's talk about something else," he said brightly. "How is every single thing in the dead old Brier Patch?"

Next Story: "Good and Bad News."

PASSES AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Jan. 11.—Henry H. Vaughn, seventy-three, a resident of Lantzville for the past five years, died in Nanaimo Hospital today. He came from the United States twenty-seven years ago, to Campbell River, later removing to Lantzville. Besides his wife, he leaves three sons, Sheridan, Minstrel Island; Dewey, of Quathiaski Cove, and John, Lantzville. He is also survived by three daughters: Mrs. M. Halvreson, Quathiaski Cove; Mrs. E. Atkins, Vancouver, and Mrs. A. E. Laird, Port Alberni.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 11 (CP).—A family of five monkeys from Seattle was on the Ms. Hikawa Maru when she sailed for the Orient from here today. They were being shipped to a national zoo in Japan.
